

Nancy Wyman
LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
STATE OF CONNECTICUT

The State of Connecticut is looking for volunteers!

Have you ever thought about volunteering your talents and expertise for a state-wide board or commission? The State of Connecticut is always looking for volunteers to serve on the many state councils, panels, boards and commissions that play an important part in running the state. The list of areas, topics and skills is extremely varied and covers almost every aspect of life in our state. Examples include finance, energy, environment, medical and professional regulation, electrical work, aquaculture, social work, and first responders, to name a few – an enormous range of professional and community interests. Volunteers often do not have to have a particular expertise or background; rather, a willingness and interest in participating in the group discussion and recommendations. Public member participation is critical to our success as a state!

If you are interested, please send your resume and your areas of interest to:
