Executive Skill Series: Exercising Leadership Ethically

Course # 15354

Fire Marshal Credit: 11

This new two day course provides students with the ability to recognize ethical dilemmas in the context of their environments, apply a decision model to resolve these dilemmas, render ethical decisions, and defend under scrutiny the resulting decisions that were made in an effort to resolve these dilemmas.

The target audience for this course is fire and emergency services personnel in positions of authority who have an opportunity to exercise leadership. An eligible student must be minimally assigned in a supervisory level position (e.g., a Company Officer). Line-firefighters or firefighter-paramedics are not within the target audience and will not be considered.

Decision Making for Initial Company Operations

Course # 15355

Decision Making for Initial Company Operations is designed to develop the decision making skills needed by Company Officers to accomplish assigned tactics at structure fires. All activities and scenarios used in this course are based on structure fires. As a Company Officer (CO) with the real possibility of being the first to arrive at an incident, the CO's initial decisions will have an impact throughout the entire incident. It is vital that they be able to make good management decisions that have a favorable impact on the eventual outcome. In addition to a possible role as the initial Incident Commander (IC), the CO may well be assigned a subordinate position within the ICS organization. COs need to have a clear understanding of the system, the position they are assigned, and their role in the organization if they are to function effectively and help make the system work.

This course is specifically designed for newly appointed Company Officers, for firefighters who may have acting Company Officer responsibilities or who want to become a Company Officer.

Methods of Enhancing Safety Education

Course # 15356

Fire Marshal Credit: 12

This two day course is designed for those who coordinate or assist their organization in public education. The course does not teach people how to deliver safety programs; rather it supports efforts to enhance safety education in their organizations and in their communities. Content is ideal for students from smaller or volunteer organizations who wish to enhance their public education and prevention efforts. Students will outline ideas and plans that they would like to apply when they return home. Students who take this two day program will be able to determine if public education is valued in their organizations and in their communities. Course content emphasizes three simple methods for establishing "roots" in public fire and life safety education: personal commitment to public education; determining and improving the organization's role in public education; and enhancing programs through greater community support.

Campus Fire & Life Safety I: Risk Assessment

Course # 15357

Fire Marshal Credit: 11

This two-day course is to enable the student with the ability to begin to create a comprehensive campus fire and life safety program starting with conducting a risk assessment and developing and evaluating an emergency plan as well as building partnerships to sustain emergency programs and plans.

The target population for this course will include, but not be limited to, campus staff with responsibility for learner safety (including housing coordinators), fire and EMS staff, code enforcement, building inspection, and off-campus housing interest groups.

Strategy and Tactics for Initial Company Operations

Course # 15358

STICO is designed to meet the needs of Company Officers responsible for managing the operations of one or more companies during structural firefighting operations. STICO is intended to develop the management skills needed by company officers to accomplish assigned tactics at structure fires.

This class is appropriate for senior firefighters who may at times assume the responsibilities of the company officer.

New Fire Chief I: Challenging Issues

Course # 15359

Fire Marshal Credit: 7

This course is designed to develop the managerial, administrative and leadership skills necessary for the first time fire chief and chief officer who desire a leadership position in their department. This course addresses critical knowledge and skills pertaining to the responsibilities of a fire chief including such topics as local politics and the role of the chief officer, liability and risk management, resources and items of knowledge needed to become a first time leader in a new position in their agency.

The primary candidates for this course include new or emerging chief officers in a volunteer or combination fire department or emergency service organization. This course is open to all interested emergency services personnel including volunteer, career, and allied professionals, the class is intended primarily for those who have served or will begin to serve soon in leadership positions and who seek to learn more effective ways of managing and leading their agency.

NETC Recreation Association operates the Command Post Pub providing beverage and limited food service each evening.
