Developing a Risk Management Program for Emergency Vehicle Driving

COURSE
NUMBER 12055

DATE OF CLASS
DEC 16

Presented by Lieutenant Mike Wilbur FDNY

This seminar is presented to help attendee's produce a comprehensive driver training program that will reduce emergency vehicle and POV accidents that result in firefighter and civilian injuries and deaths. This program will explore management strategies that your fire department can implement to improve emergency vehicle operations. A generic driver training program modeled after the N.F.P.A. 1451 the Standard for a Fire Service Vehicle Operations Training Program will be introduced. Modern technologies such as driving simulators and vehicle data recorders (black boxes) will be explored. Emergency response as well as laws and liabilities will be reviewed. Recent accidents will be explored as tools to increase accident and injury prevention along with apparatus and vehicle care as it relates to accident cause. This seminar will help you understand the risks of emergency vehicle operations and will help your fire department to develop a plan to lessen the liability and help protect the fire department and its firefighters.
