Subject: Watertown interim report

The State Historic Preservation Office concurs with Archaeological Consulting Services that no further archaeological investigations appear warranted with respect to the proposed undertaking. This office believes that the proposed undertaking will have no effect upon Connecticut's archaeological heritage. This comment is conditional upon Archaeological Consulting Services' submission of a final Phase I/II report (two copies) to our professional staff for technical analysis.

Due to administrative difficulties associated with our office's physical relocation, correspondence may be delayed until later next week. In the interim, please rely on this e-mail as official comment which will be forthcoming.
