Subject: Wind turbine regulations

To the members of the Connecticut Siting Council:

I would like to add my support to those residents of Colebrook Connecticut who are facing the prospect of 480 foot tall wind turbines in dangerously close proximity to their homes.

The potential dangers to humans and to wildlife would hardly seem to justify the dubious provision of wind energy benefits.

I hope we do not have to consider that all communities in Connecticut may be held hostage to such poorly drafted regulations.

Sincerely,

Jean Thompson
