

July 25, 2012

Re: Wind Turbine Regulation

My name is Kristin Mow,

I live in Colebrook, CT. Our family has lived at this property since purchasing it in September 2006. I live at the property with my husband Benjamin and our 3 children. Our house is located only 1,000 feet away from one of these proposed turbines, according to BNE maps. I am personally disturbed by the fact that NOT ONE of the Siting council member requests included a health study. It is absolutely unacceptable that the Siting council is not taking our health into consideration. I understand that maybe you are not doctors. If I was sitting on this council I would take my responsibility serious. It is very obvious that each one of you is placed on this council to do a job. That job would not include protecting the residents of this state. It is obvious that your job would be to protect big business at the cost of all of us. It is your responsibility to take all aspects of a project into consideration before approving it. I was involved in this process. I was very disgusted by all of you. I did not feel like you listened to any of the information that was provided regarding ill health effects on families living with in close proximity to these projects. I hope that everyone on the Siting council has a chance to have a project such as this located next to your house. Then and only then will you understand the stress that this has caused for all of our families. You continue to choose what is best for yourself and big business. All of you have self-serving needs and I don't think that any of you have taken our families into consideration when approving these two projects. Please do the right thing and protect future Connecticut residents from minimal setbacks distances from an industrial turbine. I can't believe that the council still has not requested information from a licensed medical professional to discuss possible health effects on residents living near these turbines. I guess your main concerns have nothing to do with the people. It's all about money, greed and power. I urge you to reconsider this unsafe distance.

Kristin Mow