Each year, the employees and retirees of the State of Connecticut have generously contributed to charities of their choice through the workplace giving campaign. In 2008, for instance, over $2,070,000 was raised in support of health care, education, the environment, protection of animals, medical research and many more worthy causes. Think of the amazing results of this outpouring of concern!

Even though you are retiring, you can still be a part of this ongoing effort. In fact, many people don't make a philanthropic gift until after they retire. Making charitable contributions later in life gives you more time to choose an organization that is truly meaningful to you. Whether you are a first time donor or an ongoing supporter, giving is a personal matter. Should you decide that you would like to make a difference to your community, please visit WWW.CSEC.CT.GOV. There you will find a listing of each charity. If interested in pledging, please fill out the form below and mail it to the address listed at the top of the form.

Thank you!
