The CT Council on Developmental Disabilities is seeking suggestions for advocacy, systems change and capacity building activities for the purpose of amending its state plan and for developing requests for proposals (RFPs) for grants. Interested citizens may present comments at the Council's public forum. The following areas of emphasis should be considered when making public comment.

- Accessible, affordable and available public transportation
- Developing and supporting leadership, self-advocacy and self-determination
- Accessible, affordable and available housing
- Child care, including after school activities in the community
- Early intervention
- Employment in real jobs, for real wages and benefits
- Health, care, including emergency planning, wellness and prevention
- Inclusive education, including post-secondary education
- Inclusive recreation, leisure, social activities and faith activities in the community
- Informal and formal community supports
- Quality assurance, including interagency coordination and networking
