Re: Hurricane Sandy

Dear Mr. Tierney,

This letter is in response to your quick assistance to the city of West Haven in the aftermath of the damages caused by Hurricane Sandy 2012.

The Office of the State Building Inspector and the State Fire Marshal's Office provided six inspectors on Friday November 2nd and five inspectors on Saturday November 3rd; those inspectors are: Joseph Kingston, William Hannon, Colin Jefferies, Ronald Dew, Paul Bette, Mark Leone, John Tye and Robert Nuzzi. All of these men assisted the city in identifying the flood impact on the electrical system, heating system and the hot water systems in an area of about a quarter square mile which includes no less than 20 streets in a low lying flood area. With this information the city was able to document the dangers and direct the homeowners toward a restoration plan which eventually included electrical and natural gas reconnects.

The professionalism and the genuine concern for the citizens of West Haven during our time of need were displayed by these men and will not be quickly forgotten by myself and my inspectors.

Mr. Tierney it is a good feeling to know that you and your team are there during these challenging events; once again thank you to you and the Office's of the State Building Inspector and the State Fire Marshal.
