Regional Approach to Materials Management

Lyle Wray, Executive Director
Capitol Region Council of Governments
February 25, 2014
CRCOG Borders 2015 -- 974,000
Question: Which solid waste management roles and responsibilities should be at the metro or rural regional level in CT?

• The Metropolitan and Rural Councils of Governments should be in reorganized and in place with stable boundaries by January 1, 2015

• In the past metro and rural regions have had a role in recycling education

• Most states have assigned modest or significant roles to the metro regional organizations
Candidate Tasks

• Core: table of tasks with state, metro regional, city/town, private sector columns
• Implementation plan to meet solid waste management targets in a metro or rural region
• Recycling education resource for towns
• Metrics and public communications
• Governance functions in recycling, waste to energy, and innovations areas
Conclusions

• When thinking of regions, use the metropolitan and rural councils of governments as the platform over time for solid waste management tasks

• Consider piloting new responsibilities in one or two metro and rural regions

• Phase in changes over time with attention to resources needed to carry out the tasks