

WHERE'S YOUR KI?

If you WORK in or are a NEW or SEASONAL RESIDENT of East Lyme, Groton City, Groton Town, New London, Old Lyme, Waterford, and portions of Ledyard, Lyme, and Montville, the State's nuclear preparedness program and your community have arranged for you to obtain your Potassium Iodide (KI) tablets at the locations below.

Potassium Iodide (KI) is an over-the-counter drug that can help protect your thyroid gland from radioactive iodine, one of the potentially harmful emissions that may be released in a nuclear power plant accident. KI is a supplement to the primary protective actions of evacuation and or sheltering and should only be taken upon direction of State officials.
