NOTES from the DEPARTMENT . . .

FARMERS' MARKETS AND THE FARMERS' MARKET NUTRITION PROGRAM

by Mark Zotti, Marketing Representative

Farmers' Markets in Connecticut are off and running, building on the momentum from an incredible 2007 market season with a 24% increase in the number of markets this year. Last year's 87 farmers' markets blossomed into 114! Towns and cities across the state are opening their greens and allowing agriculture back into city limits. These markets provide a weekly event celebrating food, community and nutrition. The consumers are responding en masse welcoming local products, educational seminars and cooking demonstrations. Thanks to new legislation, even food service establishments are able to shop at their local farmers' markets.

There are a number of scenarios that play into the local food movement. Farmers' markets not only offer fruits and vegetables, but have expanded into meat, dairy, seafood products, and much more! People love the variety and towns love the community feel that many of these markets offer. Food safety concerns are also having an effect. Many people feel much more comfortable purchasing local products directly from the farmer. In addition, many out-of-state products are not only less fresh but, with rising fuel costs, are becoming more and more expensive. When compared to the benefits of buying Connecticut Grown products, out-of-state products simply don't add up in price, flavor, quality, and freshness. All are good reasons why consumers love Connecticut Grown products and why Connecticut farmers' markets rock!

The Farmers' Market Nutrition Program began in 1994, providing WIC clients (woman, infant, and children deemed nutritionally at risk) and seniors that live in subsidized housing with booklets worth $15.00 (5 vouchers @ $3.00 each) for the purchase of fruits and vegetables at certified farmers' markets across the state. Due to the tremendous success of this program, the state designated an additional $400,000 to serve more people. Last year was the first year that the new funding was put into effect and it had an overwhelming impact on farmers' markets. 49,000 WIC clients received benefits along with 19,000 eligible seniors. This year, over 52,000 WIC clients and an estimated 29,000 seniors will be served. All eligible WIC clients receive their farmers' market vouchers through their local WIC offices. The Connecticut Department of Agriculture works with towns/cities social service directors to provide vouchers to eligible seniors. The department, the markets, and most importantly the WIC and seniors clients are excited about these newly acquired benefits.

This program has been instrumental in developing new markets and allowing fresh fruits and vegetables to be readily available to everyone. Last year, the farmers had a remarkably successful year, depositing over $595,000 worth of vouchers, and are excited about the increasing numbers this year. To participate in this program, each farmer must go through a short certification meeting, followed by a production area verification. This is done to insure the participants are farmers and that they will produce enough to last throughout the market season. This year the farmers' market circuit welcomed over 30 new growers to its expanding markets. Currently we have over 400 farmers participating in farmers' markets and many markets are still in need of more.

2008 LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY CONTINUED FROM LAST WEEK

by Melanie Attwater-Young, Legislative Liaison
Public Act 08-174 – An Act Concerning the Face of Connecticut Steering Committee and the Preservation of Farmland, A Municipal Grant Program for Development Projects, Loans for Brownfield Purchasers and Tax Exemptions for Open Space Land Held by or For Certain Corporations - This Act establishes a "Face of Connecticut" account, which is separate and non-lapsing within the General Fund. Any monies deposited into this account shall be expended by the Commissioner of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) as directed by the "Face of CT" steering committee. Such monies shall be used for acquisition, restoration or stewardship of properties that serve at least two of the four following objectives: conservation of open space, renovation and enhancement of urban parks, preservation of active agricultural land or restoration or reuse of historic structure. One billion dollars was initially attached to this bill as it moved through the legislature, but this funding was removed in the Finance, Revenue and Bonding Committee.

This law also creates a "Face of Connecticut" steering committee and spells out the makeup of said committee. The committee is housed with the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) for administrative purposes only. The Commissioner's of DEP, Agriculture and the Department of Community and Economic Development, and the Secretary of the Office of Policy and Management will serve on this committee with the position of chair being rotated every two years. The committee will meet quarterly and all committee appointments must be completed by September 1, 2008.

Sections 3 and 4 of the Act are specific to the Department of Agriculture's Farmland Preservation Program. It requires that the Commissioner of Agriculture change the regulations governing the Farmland Preservation Program by providing that the state's contribution in preserving farmland cannot exceed $20,000 per acre. It also enables the Commissioner of Agriculture to establish a "community farms" program which would consist of farms that do not meet the current criteria standards of the Farmland Preservation Program. Should the Commissioner set up such a program, the law requires that criteria be established. It sets forth minimum considerations that the Commissioner and the Farmland Preservation Advisory Board must contemplate when assessing a farm for inclusion in such program.

The Act also makes changes to the existing generic brownfield remediation and development program under the Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD) by dividing the program into separate grant and loan programs, and narrowing the range of nonprofit organizations eligible for funds. The Act also reestablishes the Brownfields Task Force which must report to the legislature by January 1, 2009 on how to clean up contaminated property.

And finally, the law exempts from local property taxes any real property owned by or held in trust for, a corporation organized exclusively for scientific, educational, literary, historical or charitable purpose. It specifies that a nonprofit organization that owns land to preserve as open space is using the land for a charitable purpose and thus exempting the land from property taxes. (Effective upon passage: Sections 1, 2, 4, 6, 8 and 9; Effective July 1, 2008: Sections 5 and 7.)

Public Act 08-184 – An Act Concerning Revisions to Statutes Pertaining to the Department of Public Health – Under current law, food service establishments can request and obtain fresh produce at a farmer's market. Section 9 of this Act allows food service establishments to purchase Connecticut-grown farm products at a farmer's markets, instead of just fresh produce. These products must be produced and sold in accordance with applicable state regulations. "Farm products" means any fresh fruits, vegetables, mushrooms, nuts, shell eggs, honey or other bee products, maple syrup or maple sugar, flowers, nursery stock and other horticultural commodities, livestock food products, including meat, milk, cheese and other dairy products, food products of "aquaculture", as defined in subsection (q) of section 1-1 of the general statutes, including fish, oysters, clams, mussels and other molluscan shellfish taken from the waters of the state or tidal wetlands, products from any tree, vine or plant and their flowers, or any of the products listed in this subdivision that have been processed by the participating farmer, including, but not limited to, baked goods made with farm products. (Effective upon passage)

Public Act 08-187 – An Act Concerning Farm Wineries – Current law allows a farm winery to produce crops on the farm winery or on property adjacent to and under the farm winery permittee's ownership and control. This Act changes the requirement to allow for production of wine crops on any property in the state that is under the ownership or control, or is leased, by the permittee or the farm winery's owner. It also requires that a farm winery consist of a minimum of five acres in aggregate, if a portion of such five acres is leased, to be eligible for a farm winery permit. (Effective upon passage)
