ADDENDUM NUMBER 1

Issue Date: 10/2/14

Question and Answer

Question:

Spec mentions all windows are assumed to have PCB glazing. Drawings identify only certain windows, but mentions the word “typical.” This is unclear. Question: Do all windows get abated or only the handful identified on drawings? If all, should we assume they are mostly non-lead as spec. Mentions only certain windows are lead containing.

Answer:

All broken single pane windows are to be repaired. Replacement of glass will be just the broken piece of glass, not the entire window.
