

LEAD PUBLIC HEALTH

A Google Hangout On Air

Connecticut's Public Health System: A Google Hangout On Air

- What: Google Hangouts is a video chat program that hosts panel discussions with an online audience.
- When: April 7, 2014, 12:00 PM- 1:00 PM
- Where: Public Health Hangout
(<https://plus.google.com/events/cfkamdcss6o03i801afse57iods>)
- Registration: To register, email the names of registrants, organization you represent, and contact information to dph.leadpublichealth@ct.gov with the words "Google Hangout" in the subject line and body of the message.

Agenda

Goal: To build upon the momentum created by the Lead Public Health informational forum, by continuing to create demand for public health services.

| | |
|---|--|
| Kathi Traugh, MPH President, CT Public Health Association | Introductions Moderator |
| Dr. William Faraclas Professor of Public Health, SCSU | What public health is and how schools of public health prepare the future workforce to lead public health |
| The Honorable Mary Glassman First Selectman Town of Simsbury | Alignment of municipal public health workforce needs with existing public health education Public health services needs that municipal leaders identify as lacking and those that are done well |
| The Honorable Toni Harp Mayor City of New Haven | Why municipal leaders should support public health Critical public health services provided in New Haven A vision of public health for New Haven |
| Participants | Q & A |

