STATE OF CONNECTICUT
TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES (TANF)
STATE PLAN

INTRODUCTION

This plan describes Connecticut's programs that furnish financial assistance and services to needy families in a manner to fulfill the purposes of the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program. Connecticut administers a variety of programs through a number of state agencies under the TANF program. Each of the programs is designed to meet at least one of the following purposes of TANF.

TANF Purpose:

1. Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.
2. End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.
3. Prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies and establish annual numerical goals for preventing and reducing the incidence of these pregnancies.
4. Encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

The plan is for the federal fiscal years of 2009, 2010, and 2011.

OVERVIEW OF CONNECTICUT'S TANF PROGRAMS

Sec. 402 (a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(i) - This Overview part outlines how the state intends to conduct a program, designed to serve all political subdivisions in the state (not necessarily in a uniform manner), that provides assistance to needy families with (or expecting) children and provides parents with job preparation, work, and support services to enable them to leave the program and become self-sufficient.

Connecticut's Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program provides assistance to needy families and pregnant women meeting eligibility criteria in all political subdivisions of the state. Assistance for basic needs is provided to needy families through the Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) component of the Jobs First program. Assistance also is provided to needy families for an energy assistance program and foster care maintenance.

Two-Parent TFA cases are those with two parents as defined at 45 CFR 261.24. The Two-Parent component of the TFA cash assistance program for those meeting these criteria is funded as a Solely State Funded (SSF) program, and is no longer part of the TANF program or claimed as a separate state program. Other TFA families with two parents, other than those included in this definition, continue to be part of the TANF program. Although the eligibility criteria (including income and asset limits) vary from program to program, a family must meet the definition of a needy family to qualify for any of these programs. Connecticut defines a needy family as a family with gross income less than seventy five percent (75%) of Connecticut's median income level. The family must include a dependent child and a caretaker relative.

The ultimate goal of Connecticut's TANF programs is to provide assistance to needy families to enable them to move out of poverty and into self-sufficiency.

A dependent child must be either less than 18 years of age, 18 years of age and attending secondary school or its equivalent, or under age 24 and attending a post secondary school and considered a dependent student through the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) process, or under age 25 and participating in a TANF job training or subsidized employment program.

A caretaker relative is a relative who cares for and supervises the dependent child. The caretaker may be a parent or other person related by blood, through adoption or marriage to a relative or another adult acting in loco parentis.

A needy parent is a parent of a child who is a member of a needy family. The parent may be the custodial or non-custodial parent.

Subsidized Employment

- C. 37. Subsidized Employment Program(s)

Connecticut has included a change to the definition of “eligible families” to include youth through the age of 24 years as dependent children. This increase in age provides consistency with the 2009 ARRA Workforce Investment Act (WIA) Summer Youth Employment Program requirements and will allow expenditures for participants age 24 or younger to be included in TANF job training and subsidized employment programs. The revision to the child’s age is based on existing eligibility for dependent children to be covered by medical insurance up to the age of twenty-six, pursuant to Connecticut General Statutes Sec 38a-497 and Sec. 38a.-554.

The inclusion of the additional Non-Recurrent Short-Term Benefit and Subsidized Employment programs in the TANF Plan is part of a comprehensive review, analysis and decision making by diverse group of organizations representing state agencies, local governments, child and family advocates, workforce boards, state leadership, private and public program and service providers. Discussions and analysis began in the Fall of 2009 and continued on a regular basis to date. This revised TANF State Plan is available for public review and comment through the website <http://www.ct.gov/dss>. Public comments will be accepted through July 23, 2010. If there are any additional changes to the TANF State Plan they will be made as a new revision.

The Department of Children and Families Community Emergency Services Program has been removed from the TANF Plan Section D.1. Effective 10/01/09.

The Judicial Branch program Alternative to Detention name has changed to Community Residential Program. Effective 10/01/09.

Previous Revisions

The TANF Plan 2009 – 2011, initially submitted on December 29, 2008 and revised June 25, 2009 includes revisions based on comments that were received as part of the public comment period on or before December 23, 2008 and programmatic changes effective after April 1, 2009. The revisions include consideration of questions and recommendations made by several municipalities, state agencies, private organizations and residents of the state, regarding program eligibility, assessments and determinations, clients served, services provided, program descriptions, program funding, and payment standards.

The state consulted with local governments and private sector organizations and provided the opportunity to comment on the design of the services and programs described in this plan, so that they may be provided in a manner appropriate to local populations. Notice was published inviting public comment on the TANF Plan 2009-2011, revised November 6, 2008, at <http://www.ct.gov/dss/> on November 7, 2008. Notice was also sent by email, facsimile and USPS mail to local governments, tribal nations, private organizations and state agencies.

Changes to programs and funding sources from the previous TANF State Plan include:

- Effective October 1, 2008, benefits to Certain Exempt Households in the Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) program are funded as a Solely State Funded (SSF) program. - Faith Based Initiatives has been deleted as effective July 1, 2007 the state is no longer operating this program.
- Rental Assistance Program has been deleted as it is no longer claimed as TANF.

STATE PLAN

SECTION A - PART I

A. FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

The Family Assistance Programs part outlines TANF programs that provide assistance to needy families.

A. 1. Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) - Department of Social Services

The Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) component of Jobs First is an employment focused, time limited assistance program based on the assumption that welfare should be a temporary program of assistance and it is better to work than to be on welfare. Recipients are encouraged to assume personal responsibility for their economic self-sufficiency. Unless they meet exemption criteria, adults are required to seek and retain employment if it is available. Recipients unable to secure employment without intervention from the state will receive services, including education and training, that will assist them in becoming employed. Applicants must attend the initial employment services assessment interview and help develop an employment plan before TFA benefits are granted.

The TFA program attempts to direct participants to employment sufficient to move them off assistance within twenty-one months. The program contains many features that support this objective. The asset limit is $3,000 so families may set aside money for emergencies. Families are allowed to own a reliable car to seek employment, to travel to and from work, or to transport a handicapped family member. To be excluded, the family's equity in the vehicle must not exceed $9,500 or the vehicle must be used to transport a handicapped family member. Earned income of recipients is totally excluded up to the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). Once earnings reach the FPL, the family becomes ineligible for assistance. Up to $50 per month of current child support is passed through to the family each month and excluded as income. Child care and transportation benefits are provided in order to enable individuals to prepare for, obtain and retain employment.

If a family member refuses to participate in Employment Services activities the family is penalized through grant reduction. Employment Services and benefits to support required activities are provided through Connecticut's Department of Labor.

If the family has made a good faith effort to comply with the employment activities but still has income below the payment standard at the end of twenty-one months of assistance, a six-month extension of benefits may be given. Extensions may also be given to families who have encountered circumstances beyond their control such as domestic violence. To qualify for an extension the family's income cannot exceed the payment standard corresponding to the size of the family.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT
TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES (TANF)
STATE PLAN

SECTION A - PART I

A. 1. Continued

There is no limit on the number of extensions a family may receive. However, the state imposes a 60-month time limit and time limited families cannot receive more than two extensions to the twenty-one month time limit except when all adults meet one or more of the following criteria:

- The adult is precluded from obtaining or maintaining employment due to domestic violence or another circumstance beyond his or her control, or
- Despite working thirty-five or more hours per week, earning at least the minimum wage, the adult earns less than the family's TFA payment standard, or
- The adult is employed and working less than thirty-five hours per week due to (1) a documented medical impairment that limits his/her hours of work, or (2) the need to care for a disabled member of the household; or
- The adult has two or more substantiated barriers to employment such as the lack of available child care, substance abuse or addiction, severe mental or physical health problems, one or more severe learning disabilities, domestic violence, or a child who has a serious physical or behavioral health problem.

If each adult in the family meets at least one of the following exemption criteria, the family is not subject to the state time limits. These exemptions do not apply to the federal time limit. A person is exempt if he or she is incapacitated; age 60 or older; responsible for the care of an incapacitated family member; a non-parent caretaker relative who does not receive assistance; caring for a child under the age of one who is not subject to the family cap; pregnant if a physician has certified that she is unable to work; or unemployable. A six week exemption is also given when a pregnancy ends. This exemption may be extended if a medical professional certifies that the person is unable to work. Minor parents attending and satisfactorily completing high school or high school equivalency programs and their children are exempt from the time limit. However, unmarried minor parents who are not attending and who have not completed high school or its equivalent are not eligible for benefits.

In addition to a family that includes a member who has been battered or subject to extreme cruelty, a family that is exempt from the twenty-one month time limit is exempt from the state's 60-month time limit. Also, these families are considered hardship cases for the sixty month limit of TANF funded benefits.

Effective October 1, 2008 TFA families, in which all adults are exempt based on incapacity, age 60 or older, pregnant or post-partum, or unemployable, are funded outside of the TANF program in a solely state-funded program.

Other features of the TFA program include the following: Additional assistance for a child conceived and born to a family receiving assistance is one half of what it would normally be. Minor parents are required to live with their parents or other adults.

Any relative may receive assistance for a child. In addition, legal guardians and others acting in loco parentis may receive such assistance. Pregnant women are eligible for assistance throughout the entire pregnancy. Children are eligible for assistance until they reach age 19 as long as they are still attending high school or its equivalent.

All adult members and minor parents who are caretaker relatives are required to participate in the digital imaging process. At the time of application, an electronic image of the person's index fingers is taken and matched with a computer database of all other recipients to determine if the person is receiving assistance under another name.

The TFA benefit levels vary throughout the state based on the average cost of rent in each area. There are three regions in the state each with a different benefit level. The benefit levels and the towns covered by each level are described in Addendum A.

TANF Purpose #1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Commingled State and Federal Funds. (Solely State Funded for TFA for Two Parent families and "certain exempt" families.)

Effective October 1, 2008, benefits to Certain Exempt Households is funded as a Solely State Funded (SSF) program. These benefits had been funded as regular TFA through Federal TANF and Commingled funds (FFY 2008) and had previously been funded as a Separate State Program (prior to FFY 2008).

Effective October 1, 2007, in Connecticut cash assistance to two-parent families, as defined at 45 CFR 261.24, is funded through a Solely State Funded (SSF) program. Two Parent families are eligible for non-assistance benefits such as Jobs First Employment Services.

A. 2. Child Care Assistance for Unemployed Persons - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides child care assistance to TFA family members preparing for employment through Jobs First Employment Services activities. Child care assistance is also provided to teen parents who need child care while completing high school.

Child care assistance payments are based on several factors including: the local market rate, the child care setting, the number of hours care is needed, the age of the child and the special needs of the child. Unemployed families are not required to pay a family fee.

TANF Purpose #1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program

A. 3. Emergency Assistance Foster Care Maintenance Months 1-12 - Department Of Children and Families

Connecticut provides foster care maintenance to children who are in the custody of the Department of Children and Families (DCF). TANF covers the portion of the maintenance services that were authorized under the prior Emergency Assistance (EAF) program for clients who would have qualified for Emergency Assistance under that prior program. Benefits are funded by TANF for children who remain in foster care up to twelve months of care and are considered assistance.

These services enable needy families to care for their children in their own homes or in the homes of relatives or were authorized through the Emergency Assistance program described in Connecticut's IV-A State Plan in effect on September 30, 1995.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

B. FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS – MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT (MOE) PROGRAMS

This Family Assistance Programs - Maintenance of Effort (MOE) Programs part outlines programs that provide assistance to needy families that utilize state maintenance of effort (MOE) funds.

Program benefits provided to eligible families are evidenced in program descriptions.

B. 1. Energy Assistance - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides energy assistance to help to pay for heating costs for families with income below 150 percent of the federal poverty guidelines. This is a separate state program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds to provide energy assistance to families who qualify for both TFA and the Energy Assistance program.

Households that are required to pay for heating costs separately from rent may receive basic benefits, crisis benefits and safety net benefits. Households with heat included in their rental payment may receive a renter’s benefit. Families with a member who is elderly, disabled, or under the age of six are considered vulnerable households and qualify for higher basic benefits than other households. There is a limit on liquid assets of $10,000 for homeowners and $7,000 for non-homeowners. The charts below indicate::

The basic benefit levels available to families are as follows:

POVERTY LEVEL GUIDELINES	VULNERABLE HOUSEHOLDS	NON-VULNERABLE HOUSEHOLDS
Up to 100%	$675	$635
101% - 125%	$580	$535
126% - 150%	$485	$435

The benefit levels for renters are as follows

Up to 100%	$270
101% - 125%	$255
126% - 150%	$240

Crisis benefits are provided to households unable to secure primary heat, causing a life-threatening situation. Up to $400 is provided to purchase a deliverable fuel.

Safety Net Assistance is provided to households that have exhausted crisis assistance benefits and are in a life-threatening situation. Up to $400 per occurrence is provided to assist the household in obtaining shelter with adequate heat or, as a last resort, to purchase an emergency fuel delivery.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

B. 2. Aliens - Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) to legal aliens who reside in the state. Eligibility criteria and benefit levels for aliens are the same as they are for citizens.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

Funding: Segregated State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds to provide cash assistance to qualified aliens who are not eligible for federal TANF benefits solely due to their alien status.

B. 3. Non-hardship Families who Received more than 60 months of TFA Benefits - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides TFA benefits to families who have exhausted the federal 60 month limit on benefits, but have not exhausted the state's 60 month limit and who do not meet the state's hardship criteria. The exemption criteria for the state time limit is the same as the hardship criteria for the federal limit. When a family loses an exemption they also lose the hardship designation. The state will continue to provide benefits to these families until they reach the state's 60 month time limit. Eligibility criteria and benefit levels for these families are the same as they are for families who have not yet received 60 months of federal TANF benefits.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

Funding: Segregated State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE MOE PROGRAMS

This Services and Non-Assistance Maintenance of Effort (MOE) Programs part describes how Connecticut provides services and non-assistance benefits to needy families through TANF programs through Maintenance of Effort programs. The programs described in this section utilize either segregated state funds or separate state programs.

Program benefits provided to eligible families are evidenced in program descriptions.

C. 1. Connecticut Workforce Advancement Grants for Education (CT WAGE) - Department of Higher Education

Charter Oak State College's Connecticut Workforce Advancement Grants for Education (CT WAGE) program is designed to address the needs of low income parents who could, with post secondary education in career and occupational programs, improve the quality of their lives. The program assists low-income, working parents in completing a college degree. The program is modeled after the Women in Transition program. All individuals provided with services will meet the criteria of "needy parents" as defined in this plan. CT WAGE students must meet academic and financial eligibility criteria.

The CT WAGE participants are provided with laptop computers, internet access, text books or reimbursement for books for coursework, funding for courses not covered by financial aid, academic, career and personal counseling, and other related expenses that may include child care or transportation. The technology tools allow the student to take online courses and to communicate with faculty, student support staff and other students. Taking online courses alleviates the need for childcare and transportation costs and allows the family to spend more quality time together.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C. 2. Women in Transition (WIT) - Department of Higher Education

Charter Oak State College's Women in Transition program (WIT) is designed to address the needs of the underemployed and under-served who could, with a college degree, improve the quality of their lives. The Women in Transition program targets minority, low-income, single mothers, many of whom are former AFDC/TANF recipients. All individuals provided with services will meet the criteria of "Needy Parents" as defined in Connecticut's State Plan for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) Program.

C. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE MOE PROGRAMS

The WIT participants are provided with laptop computers, Internet access, a printer, funding for courses not covered by financial aid, textbooks, and academic and career counseling. The technology tools allow the student to take online courses and to communicate with the WIT Coordinator, faculty, and other students. Taking online courses alleviates the need for childcare and transportation costs and allows the family to spend more quality time together.

The WIT counselor contacts each student on a regular schedule to discuss progress. The student works with the counselor to determine the appropriate degree concentration. Together they carefully consider and evaluate (1) the participant's goals regarding future employment and/or career change and (2) the immediate labor market employment and potential salary levels for that specific area. In addition, academic weaknesses are discussed and additional coursework is recommended to improve in those areas, e.g. writing and technology skills.

Funds are used to provide recruitment, assessment, counseling, technology training and support, books, tuition and other fees not covered by federal or state financial aid. The College will contract with the Charter Oak State College Foundation to disburse funds for books and some course fees.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

This initiative, which is administered by the Department of Labor, assists TANF-eligible individuals to participate in the Connecticut Child Care Specialist Apprenticeship program. The apprenticeship program is comprised of two major components: job training and related classroom instruction. Employers that wish to participate in the initiative must adhere to the regulations and statutes that govern the state apprenticeship program which includes wage progression, ensuring the apprentice is learning the trade classification for which he/she is registered, attendance of related instruction, ratio, safety, record keeping and EEO guidelines.

At the completion of the 4000 hours of on the job training and 180 hours of related classroom instruction the Child Care Development Specialist will receive two nationally recognized certificates, the Childcare Development Associate (CDA) as well as their Journeyman certificate.

Funding: Separate State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C. 4. Child Care Assistance Programs (Non-TFA and former TFA families) - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides child care assistance to working families transitioning off TFA and non-TFA working families.

Initial eligibility for child care assistance is based on countable family income and the need for child care. At application, a family may be eligible if their countable income is below fifty percent (50%) of the state median income (SMI) related to family size. Child support received or paid by the family is not considered countable income. Once determined eligible, a family may receive child care assistance as long as their need for care continues and their countable income remains under the income limit. There is no time limit on a family's eligibility for child care assistance.

Child care payment rates are based on several factors including: the local market rate, the child care setting, the number of hours care is needed, the age of the child and the special needs of the child. All working families are required to pay a portion of the approved child care assistance payment. This Family Fee, paid by the family directly to the child care provider, is calculated based on countable family income in accordance with the following scale.

D. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

This Services and Non-Assistance Programs part describes how Connecticut provides services and non-assistance benefits to needy families through TANF programs. The programs described in this section utilize federal funds or commingled state and federal funds.

D. 1. Child Welfare Prevention and Intervention Services - Department of Children and Families

These services are provided when conditions exist requiring the intervention of the Department of Children and Families (DCF). These services include:

- Case Management Services - services provided by DCF staff under the state's Emergency Assistance program in effect on September 30, 1995, as well as a variety of home and community based services to families to address issues that may cause a child to be abused or neglected in an effort to allow a child to remain in his or her home.
- Early Childhood Services center based programs and home visitation, promotes school readiness skills and healthy development for children, ages birth to six, who may be identified as at risk for abuse and/or neglect and who may have developmental delays.
- Family Support Team - support to reunifying families during the post transition phase of reunification through therapeutic services for families with children who have significant behavioral health needs. Services are provided both in the family's home and in other appropriate settings offering mentoring, transportation, tutoring, and recreational opportunities
- Individualized Family Support - Funds a variety of services to keep children in the home, such as therapeutic child care, intensive family preservation, and family violence services.
- Integrated Family Violence Services - integrated assistance and intervention support for families in which there is a child or adult victim of domestic violence.
- Intensive Family Preservation Services - 24-hour family preservation counseling to families in their homes; family reunification services for up to 12 weeks for children who are able to be reunited with their parents and foster family preservation services designed to help foster parents properly care for their foster children (EA).
- Investigations - investigations provided by DCF staff under the state's Emergency Assistance program in effect on September 30, 1995. Investigations of reports of child abuse and neglect, to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of children from their homes in cases where a removal has not occurred but such a removal is a reasonable possibility in the absence of preventive services.

- Local Systems of Care - community-based case management for children and their families who are at-risk of being removed from their homes. Local Systems of Care include: Care Coordination - provides case management and support services to a family with a child with complex behavioral health needs, who are at-risk of being removed from their homes; Emergency Mobile Psychiatric Services - provides crisis intervention and mental health assessments for children in homes, schools, and other locations in the community. Phone intervention for triage occurs 24 hours a day. Mobile assessment occurs daily and on weekends. Additional services include: medication consultation, assessment, and short-term medication management; behavioral management services; substance abuse screening and referral to services for families with a child in crisis; Crisis Stabilization - provides short term, residential treatment for children with rapidly deteriorating psychiatric condition, in order to reduce the risk of harm to self or others and divert children from admission into residential or inpatient care. Interventions focus on stabilization of the child's behavioral health condition and enhancing existing outpatient services available.
- Multi-disciplinary Investigation Teams (MDT) - This service promotes the coordination of investigations of and interventions for cases of child abuse/neglect among agencies, including DCF, police, medical, mental health, victim advocates, and prosecutors. Cases are referred to the regularly scheduled team meetings by DCF, law enforcement or other agency members of the team. A team Coordinator assumes the coordination and administrative responsibilities in addition to being an active member of the team. Training in aspects of child abuse and the investigation process is provided to the team members.
- Parent Aide (Family Enrichment) - This service provides a range of in-home teaching, modeling and support services to parents in order to reduce the risk for abuse and/or neglect and to improve the parent's overall functioning and ability to care for their children. The families served include biological, relative foster family, foster family, and pre/post adoptive families referred solely by DCF.
- Parent Education Assessment Services - This service provides home based parenting education and skill building services for families with children ages 8 and younger. A Family & Child Action Plan is developed that will focus efforts on the specific areas of limitation. Services also include clinical services, and referral and linkage to community supports and services.
- Project SAFE- provides priority access to substance abuse evaluations, outreach and engagement and outpatient substance abuse treatment to parent/caregivers who are involved in an open DCF case. Additional services include assisting families to gain access to mental health, medical, social, educational, vocational, services

- Substance Abusing Families At Risk (SAFAR) - residential substance abuse treatment program for pregnant and parenting women and their children. It is a structured, drug-free residential and program environment composed of various components to meet each resident's individual, medical, emotional and specific treatment needs. The parents will receive education and skills training in order to understand and have positive interactions with their children.
- Supportive Housing for Families - case management and counseling supportive services for clients in subsidized housing programs. (This is a different program than the Next Steps Supportive Housing program described previously in the plan.)
- Therapeutic Child Care - This service offers a range of support services for children in a child care facility, including parent-child programs and an after school program. The target population is children ages birth to 8 years. The primary activity is the teaching of parenting skills as parents participate with their child in the child care setting. With new understanding and skills on the part of the parents, DCF will be less likely to become involved and children will be less likely to be removed from the home.
- Treatment/Prevention of Child Abuse program - community-based prevention and treatment of child abuse.

Also included are services provided with funds from the Children's Trust Fund such as parenting programs for first-time parents, Parents Anonymous groups, and other developmental and support services. These services are offered on behalf of children under the age of 19 who are members of families with a gross income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the State Median Income (SMI).

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

FUNDING: Segregated Federal TANF funds.

D. 2. Extended Day Treatment Program - Department of Children and Families

The Extended Day Treatment program, operated by the Department of Children and Families, provides case management, counseling, and support services in the community before and after school in order to promote positive behaviors. Services are provided to children and youth with behavioral health needs who have returned to their homes or are at home but at risk of placement due to mental health or emotional disturbance. Services are provided daily before and after school, with extended daily service on days or weeks in which school is not in session.

This program qualifies for TANF under Purpose 3 ("to reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies"). The ACF "Funding Guide" states that programs that are operated during non-school hours support the third purpose of TANF, because these programs offer supervision during the day when youth are likely to engage in at-risk behaviors (page 11 of the "Funding Guide"). Since the Extended Day Treatment program provides services before or after school, and at other times when school is not in session, it would meet this criteria. There are no income guidelines for this program.

TANF Purpose # 3: Prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies.

FUNDING: Segregated Federal TANF funds

D. 3. Addiction Treatment Services - Department of Correction

The Department of Correction (DOC) provides addiction services to clients who have varying levels of needs, from basic addiction education to intensive counseling. TANF claiming is limited to costs of non-medical services provided to clients who are parents. By providing addiction treatment to parents, the program helps them become clean and sober, which ultimately will enable them to become contributing members of the family.

TANF Purpose # 4: Encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

FUNDING: Segregated Federal TANF funds

D. 4. Education and Training Services - Department of Correction

The Department of Correction (DOC) provides education and training services that prepare clients to develop job skills and ultimately secure employment. By providing education and training services to parents, the program helps them obtain the skills and ultimately jobs that will enable them to be contributing members of their families.

D. 5. Individual and Family Grant Program - Department of Developmental Services

The Department of Developmental Services administers a program called the Individual and Family Grant program. This program makes grants to families that have children who are diagnosed with mental retardation. The purpose of the grants is to enable the families to purchase respite services. Families may also use the grant to purchase special equipment, or to pay for activities or emergencies. The respite services include in-home respite care and temporary out-of-home respite care. "Respite" provides time for the family to re-energize, deal with emergency situations, or engage in activities that may be neglected as a result of the ongoing demands of caring for a family member who has mental retardation. The goal of the program is to support persons with mental retardation to live with their families in their communities. Grants ranging from $600 per year to $1,000 per year, depending on need, are available to "needy families" with income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level for the family's size. In extraordinary circumstances, the maximum Individual and Family Grant payment per year is $5,000. These grants do not represent 'basic income support' and therefore do not meet the criteria for "assistance."

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

FUNDING: Segregated Federal TANF funds

D. 6. State Respite Centers Program - Department of Developmental Services

The Department of Developmental Services administers respite care through DDS staff and through contracts with private providers. These services provide temporary out-of-home relief to families with children who are diagnosed with mental retardation. The purpose of providing temporary (e.g., one to seven days) out-of-home respite is to enable the family to re-energize, deal with emergency situations, or engage in activities that may be neglected as a result of the ongoing demands of caring for a family member who has mental retardation. The goal of the respite program is to support persons with mental retardation to live with their families in their communities. The program is available to family's with income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level for the family's size.

FUNDING: Segregated Federal TANF funds

D. 7. Employment Services - Department of Labor

The state provides employment services to all recipients of Temporary Family Assistance (TFA). Employment services are also provided to those who are participating in an employment service activity authorized by their employment plan at the time of becoming ineligible for TFA until they complete that activity. The state refers to these employment services as Jobs First Employment Services. The Connecticut Department of Labor (DOL) administers Jobs First Employment Services (JFES) through CT Works. CT Works is a partnership of the CT Department of Labor, the Regional Workforce Development Boards (RWDB's), and other state and local agencies, including the Department of Social Services.

Jobs First Employment Services are provided to adults or minor parents in families applying for or receiving Temporary Family Assistance funded by TANF, and to Two-Parent families funded as a solely state funded program. All TFA applicants and recipients, including Two-Parent families, are eligible for employment services even if they are not required to participate by the regulations governing the TFA program. If a TANF funded TFA recipient is in an employment service activity authorized by the employment plan at the time of becoming ineligible for TFA, employment services continue until completion of that activity, provided the individual remains part of a needy family with income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level.

Similarly, services to participants in two-parent families who become ineligible for TFA while in an authorized activity will continue until the completion of that activity.

The goals of the Jobs First Employment Services program are as follows:

1. Enable TFA participants, through employment, to become independent from cash assistance by the end of the 21-month time limit established by state law;
2. Enable TFA participants who become independent from cash assistance to remain employed and independent of TFA; and

D. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

3. Ensure that federally established participation rates are met through employment of TFA participants and engagement in other countable TANF work activities deemed appropriate based on assessments of clients' needs.

Operating Principles

1. The primary focus of the Jobs First Employment Services Program is to assist participants to become independent of assistance through employment.
2. Every participant is assigned to activities that will enable him/her to become and remain independent of TFA. Whenever possible, activities are combined in a way that will meet the federally established participation rates. Each service delivery area manages its caseload in such a way as to meet the state target levels for the participation rates.
3. An individualized employment plan based on assessment of skills, abilities, work experience, education level, aptitudes, interests and program goals is developed for every participant. The individual employment plans for parents in a two-parent family are coordinated with each other in order to meet program goals. The combination of both parents' plans constitutes a plan for the family.
4. If, based on the assessment, it is determined that the family is capable within the first 21 months or anytime during an extension period of obtaining employment at earnings equal to the Federal Poverty Level for their family size, the participant (s) are required to find and/or maintain employment at the Federal Poverty Level as soon as possible.
5. If it is determined that the family cannot obtain earnings at the Federal Poverty Level (in the case of a two-parent family, both parents wages or potential wages are combined) without further training and/or education, the participant (s) are assigned work, education and/or training activities that will maximize the family's income level within the first 21 months of assistance. For participants in extensions, work, education and/or training activities that will maximize the family income level as soon as possible are assigned. Whenever possible, employment is combined with education and training in such a way that the combination is countable toward the federally established participation rate.
6. As long as consistent with the program goals, employment plan activities are based on the participant's interests, ability, availability of resources and labor market demands.

7. If it is evident that the family will not be able to become or remain independent of TFA through current employment or future employment that is secured (such as seasonal employment) without additional education and/or training, new or additional activities designed to increase the family income may be assigned, which may preclude continuation of existing employment or self-employment.
8. These operating principles apply to all participants according to their needs, regardless of race, ethnicity, gender, religion, disability or sexual orientation.

Type of Employment Services

Connecticut's Jobs First Employment Services is a "balanced work first" program. This means that if the welfare recipient is capable of going to work, he or she is expected to work. It also means that if welfare recipients are capable of working, but need education or training to improve earnings to better support their families, they will generally be expected to work while receiving that training. In some cases, work follows immediately upon completion of intensive, short-term training or education.

To attain all three program goals, Jobs First Employment Services include a combination of job search, employment, education, training and support services.

The combination of services varies with each individual participant. This balance of employment activity with other services utilizes individual strengths and resources while addressing employment-related needs. This balanced work first approach ensures that participants will not only become independent, but will remain independent from assistance while the federal participation rates are met.

Each participant, including volunteers, may receive employment services that include, but are not limited to the following: orientation, assessment, case management, employment plan development, barrier resolution, employment related education and training programs, subsidized employment, job search skill training, job placement services, case management, support services (such as Special Benefits), retention services, and re-employment services.

Post-secondary education (two and four year degree programs) is not an allowable Jobs First employment service. Self-initiated participation in such educational programs may co-exist with approved plan activities if funded with other resources, to the extent that such enrollment does not preclude participation in required plan activities.

Entry into Jobs First Employment Services

Initial entry into the Jobs First Employment Services Program is through a referral from the Department of Social Services (DSS). DSS conducts a service needs assessment of the TFA recipient during or soon after the initial TFA intake interview. The results of the human needs assessment are then forwarded to the local CT Works office.

CT Works Intake

Intake sessions include an orientation, employability assessment, initial employment plan development, eligibility determination for separately funded employment programs, assignment of a case manager and assignment to initial employment plan activities by either Regional Workforce Development Board (RWDB) staff and/or case managers.

All new participants for employment services must attend an intake session. However, special accommodations are made for participants who cannot attend the group sessions due to their employment schedule. These participants are scheduled for separate individual appointments at times that do not interfere with work hours. If necessary, the intake session can be conducted in a combination of phone interviews and mailed correspondence. Participants are not required to miss work, training or a job interview to attend any employment services activity.

Every participant leaves the intake session with a clear understanding of the next step in his/her employment plan, the name and phone number of his/her case manager and a copy of his/her employment plan.

Case Management

After intake into CT Works, the assigned case manager in conjunction with the participant completes the employment plan. The case manager arranges for services, and tracks and monitors the participant to ensure progression towards independence from cash assistance. If the participant does not comply with the provisions of the employment plan without good cause, the case manager refers the participant to the DSS for conciliation and possible sanctioning.

Special Benefits and Childcare Assistance

To facilitate maximum participation, TFA applicants or recipients who participate in employment services are supported by special benefit payments.

Transportation benefits are provided to participants of regular, on-going employment services activities other than unsubsidized employment. Payment is made for bus fares or mileage for driving private automobiles. Bus fares are as charged, not to exceed ten dollars per day. Payment for mileage for private automobiles is two dollars for up to the first ten miles, and twenty cents per mile after that up to a maximum of fifty miles per day.

D. 8. Individual Performance Contracts (IPCs) - Department of Labor

Families that are at risk of becoming ineligible for an extension due to non-compliance with Employment Services at the end of the 21 month time limit are offered an Individual Performance Contract (IPC). Components of an IPC include intensive short-term case management and may also include job training, job search, volunteer work, participation in parenting programs, counseling or any other requirements that will lead to independence from TFA benefits. If, by the end of the twenty-one (21) month time limit, the individual is successfully meeting the requirements of the IPC and does not incur an additional penalty for non-compliance with Employment Services, the family is considered to meet the good faith effort criteria for qualifying for an extension.

D. 9. Compulsive Gamblers Program - Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services

The "Connecticut Partnership for Responsible Gambling" (the Partnership) was created by the Connecticut Lottery Corporation. The Partnership is designed to educate consumers on problem gambling, underage gambling, and to promote responsible play. The Partnership also serves as a leading resource for responsible gambling, warning signs of problem gambling and available treatment services.

Through the Problem Gambling Services program, DMHAS provides counseling, assessment, financial management counseling, and peer counseling. They also provide gambling prevention services and perform advocacy work. The program operates in 15 sites throughout the State, which are either State-operated or operated by private non-for-profit organizations.

The program addresses problem gambling, which can be a source of family separation and can be a contributing cause of lack of parental support. The ACF "Guide on Funding Services for Children and Families through the TANF Program" notes "some activities that are reasonably calculated to accomplish (TANF Purpose 4) might include initiatives to promote responsible parenthood including responsible fatherhood and increase the capacity of fathers and mothers to provide emotional and financial support for their children." (Page 11 of the Guide). A recent study of the Problem Gambling Services program showed that many of the clients are married and that pathological gambling does lead to negative social and financial outcomes, such as divorce and unemployment. D. 10. Young Adult Services - Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services

The Young Adult Services program, operated out of the Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services, serves young adults in three different subgroups:

- young adults with psychiatric disorders who are transitioning from the Department of Children and Families to the adult mental health system
- young adults with Pervasive Developmental Disorders and mental illness accompanied by high risk behaviors;
- young adults with serious psychiatric disorders and psychosexual behavioral problems who have demonstrated a history of sexually aggressive behavior.

Each of these populations has clients who are at risk for producing unwanted or out-of-wedlock pregnancies. Young adult services staff identify this risk factor in their clients and provide intervention to lessen the risk.

There are no income guidelines for this program.

D.11. Child Care Assistance Programs (TFA Recipients) - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides child care assistance to families receiving TFA to enable parents to work. Initial eligibility for child care assistance is based on countable family income and the need for child care. At application, a family may be eligible if their countable income is below fifty percent (50%) of the state median income (SMI) related to family size. TFA benefits and child support received or paid by the family are not considered countable income. Once determined eligible, a family may receive child care assistance as long as their need for care continues and their countable income remains under the income limit. There is no time limit on a family's eligibility for child care assistance.

Child care payment rates are based on several factors including: the local market rate, the child care setting, the number of hours care is needed, the age of the child and the special needs of the child. All working families are required to pay a portion of the approved child care assistance payment. This Family Fee, paid by the family directly to the child care provider, is calculated based on countable family income in accordance with the following scale.

COUNTABLE FAMILY INCOME	FAMILY FEE
Less than 20% of SMI	2%
20% to 30% of SMI	4%
30% to 40% of SMI	6%

D. 12. Diversion - Department of Social Services

Connecticut's diversion program became effective October 1, 1998. This program provides qualifying applicants with up to three times the amount the family would receive each month under the Jobs First program. Applicants are screened to determine if a lump sum payment can address the issue that compelled them to apply for assistance. Applicants must be determined to be otherwise eligible for Jobs First assistance, meet the program profile characteristics and have short-term needs that, if provided, will prevent the need for ongoing cash assistance.

To meet the program profile characteristics a person must be employed or have a job offer that will begin within three months, have a solid work history, or have marketable job skills that will lead to employment.

After eligibility is determined, applicants have three working days to refuse diversion and accept full assistance. Applicants subject to the time limit who accept diversion payments are treated as if they have received three months of Jobs First cash assistance. For families subject to the time limit, three months is deducted from their twenty-one month time limit. Medicaid eligibility under section 1931 is also explored at the time of application. If a family member is employed when section 1931 eligibility ends, transitional Medicaid is given for twelve additional months. The family also may qualify for childcare benefits.

D. 13. Employment Success Program - Department of Social Services

This program is designed to identify and immediately address barriers to employment as part of the initial Jobs First Employment Services assessment process. This program provides Jobs First Employment Services participants with in-depth home based assessments, intensive case management and referral to community resources. The goal is to increase successful employment outcomes and reduce the likelihood of ongoing dependency of the Jobs First program. Also clients with serious conditions are identified and an evaluation for an incapacity exemption from the time-limited program is made.

D. 15. Teen Pregnancy Prevention Initiative (TPPI) - Department of Social Services

The Department of Social Services funds twelve pregnancy prevention programs that include a component that requires the grantees to work more intensively with at risk teens of both sexes. Programs include components to comprehensively address family issues including health, education and other life issues.

DSS' Teen Pregnancy Prevention Initiative funds municipal and non-profit agencies that serve teens at risk of pregnancy due to academic, economic, family, or other indicators. The agencies are contracted to provide services under one of two models:

- (1) A Youth Development model, which provides teens with academic assistance, sex education, job clubs and mental and physical health services to address factors that contribute to risky behaviors.
- (2) A Service Learning model which provides participants with positive experiences and alternatives to risky behaviors by requiring them to participate in volunteer activities.

The UCONN Health Center, Division of Family Planning, works with the TPPI by analyzing Department of Public Health data and presenting statistics and trends to identify cities experiencing significant or increasing incidents of birth to teens. DSS uses this information to make program decisions and establish contracts with providers in targeted communities through a competitive procurement process. TANF funds are awarded to selected contractors to manage the programs.

DSS also contracts with Philliber Research Associates (PRA) to analyze data collected from program participants who complete pre and post assessments. The assessments focus on risky behavior indicators including, but not limited to, sexual behavior, unlawful behavior, and academic issues. PRA then measures the efficacy of each individual program receiving TANF funds to accomplish its goal of reducing teen or out-of-wedlock pregnancy. Results from pre and post program assessments are used to evaluate program impacts and inform future program decisions.

DSS worked with the Department of Public Health to include the collection of marital status information on birth certificates to allow more accurate data collection on out-of-wedlock pregnancies. DSS has set numerical goals for reducing the number out-of-wedlock pregnancies for teens between the ages of 15 and 19 to no more than 23 births per 1,000 for FFY 2009, 22 births per 1,000 in FFY 2010 and 22 births per 1,000 in FFY 2011.

D. 16. Transportation Programs - Department of Social Services

Connecticut funds five regional programs to assist families in overcoming barriers to employment due to lack of transportation. Each of the region's programs is designed to meet the needs of the families in their area. With a regional focus the Workforce Investment Boards (WIBs) (4) and Council of Governments (COGs)(1) that provide Transportation to Work Services., the Boards assess regional employment and training needs and priorities, conduct planning for and coordinate programs that address those needs. In addition, the Boards create annual employment and training plans, and review regional grant proposals and plans submitted to state agencies by other organizations to assure that all regional planning is consistent with an overall statewide blueprint for workforce development. The WIBs and COGs then subcontract to providers who carry out specific transportation services to families with dependent children currently receiving or are eligible to receive TANF benefits from DSS, or to individuals receiving State Administered General Assistance (SAGA). (Transportation Services for SAGA recipients are funded separately with funds from the Social Services Block Grant.) Initiatives include new bus routes to target areas with employment opportunities that were previously inaccessible by public transportation; extended hours of bus service to provide transportation for individuals working in the evenings; coordination with Connecticut's Rideshare Company to provide vans where transportation gaps exist; automotive emergency repair services, fare subsidies, and providing a guaranteed free ride home for participants in the case of illness or a family emergency.

The income limit is less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level. These funds may be used as a match for the Federal Job Access and Reverse Commute grant, in accordance with Section 404(d)(2) of the Social Security Act.

D. 18. Alternative Incarceration Centers (AIC) - Judicial Branch Court Support Services Division

The General Assembly has appropriated funds to the Court Support Services Division (CSSD) of the Judicial Branch to fund the Alternative Incarceration Centers (AIC) program within Connecticut. The AIC program is a community-based program that provides supervision and services to individuals who are 16 or above. This program provides an alternative for specific individuals who without this program would be incarcerated. The Alternative Incarceration Centers involve partnerships with local community providers who offer services to the individuals participating in the program and to Families with Service Needs. Program services include: intake, assessment for risk and need, case management, substance abuse assessment, group interventions (employment, cognitive skills, substance abuse), community service restitution; pre-trial urinalysis testing; referral to community resources, including education and job development. These services are considered "non assistance," as they do not provide for basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing.

TANF Purpose # 3: Prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies.

TANF Purpose # 4: Encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

D. 19. Community Residential Program for Girls - Judicial Branch Court Support Services Div.

The General Assembly appropriates funds annually to the Court Support Services Division of the Judicial Branch to fund the Community Residential Program for Girls. The services are provided to female juvenile detainees who are remanded to a physically secure facility pending disposition or placement. The services include: education, medical treatment as necessary, life skills development, substance abuse counseling, and recreational activities. The goal of the services provided is to foster positive behaviors that will help the clients to make better life choices in the future. The costs being claimed under TANF include the support services that address a client's risky behaviors, while the residential costs, medical costs and educational costs are excluded from the claim. There are no income guidelines for this program. This program provides services that address the risky behaviors of the females who have been remanded, that can lead to out-of-wedlock pregnancy.

This program provides assessment services for youth referred by the courts to the Court Support Services Division of the Judicial Branch. It provides for mental health, substance abuse, and sex offender assessments, which are performed to determine what the specific needs of the individual are in order to address the causes of his or her risky behaviors. Such needs may include, for example, substance abuse services or family counseling. Professionals in the areas of psychology, psychiatry, and substance abuse perform the assessments on the youth referred.

These services are considered “non assistance,” as they do not provide for basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing. In addition, the services are provided to “needy families,” which is described as having an income level less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state median income for family size.

D. 21. Judicial Branch Counseling Services Program – Judicial Branch

The Judicial Branch provides mental health counseling services in the three state detention centers. Judicial contracts with private providers for services such as: psychiatric assessment, psychotropic medication management, licensed clinical social work assessment and treatment, substance abuse assessment and short-term treatment and psycho-education for the child and the parent(s). The assessment and counseling services are claimed under TANF and the medical services are not.

The mental health and substance abuse services available in the state detention centers provide much needed assessment and early intervention for youths presenting with these types of issues. The research literature shows that children placed in detention for delinquent behavior are at high-risk for further involvement with the criminal justice system. High-risk adolescents involved with the court are also at high-risk or already have a history of out-of-wedlock pregnancy, school failure and unemployment. The adolescent detention population is disproportionately over-represented by children from high conflict families and the children can often continue in the family legacy of family instability.

This is a family and community based program. The services identify family/client strengths, help the client/family define goals, and provide instruction on ways to prevent the recurrence of delinquent behavior and other family conflict, as well as establishing resources and skills to maintain ongoing progress. These services are considered “non assistance,” as they do not provide for basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing. The goal of the STARS program is to help address the issues that have contributed to the destructive, risky behaviors of these women, through counseling, education and individualized rehabilitative services. It is these risky behaviors that can often lead to out-of-wedlock pregnancy (some of the participants already have a child/ren). The program utilizes a relational treatment approach and encourages the development of growth producing, trusting, healthy relationships in an environment that is positive, safe, and trusting and helps to foster self-esteem and motivation among the participants in the program with the intention that they will ultimately make better life choices. WORK REQUIREMENTS

(ii) - This Work Requirements part describes how the state intends to require a parent or caretaker relative receiving assistance under the program to engage in work (as defined by the state) once the state determines the parent or caretaker is ready to engage in work, or once the parent or caretaker has received assistance under the program for 24 months (whether or not consecutive), whichever is earlier, consistent with Section 407(e)(2).

Work Requirements

Upon entering the time-limited program all adult recipients must participate in work activities, unless specifically exempted by state regulation. A person is exempt if he or she is incapacitated; age 60 or older; responsible for the care of an incapacitated family member; a non-parent caretaker relative who does not receive assistance; caring for a child under the age of one who is not subject to the family cap; pregnant or postpartum if a physician has certified that she is unable to work; or unemployable. Minor parents are exempt if attending and satisfactorily completing high school or high school equivalency programs.

WORK ACTIVITIES

Sec. 402(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(iii) - This Work Activities part describes how the state intends to ensure that parents and caretakers receiving assistance under the program engage in work activities in accordance with section 407 of the Social Security Act.

Recipients are required to engage in work activities as prescribed by their employability plans. Failure to participate without good cause results in a penalty being imposed on the entire family.

During the twenty-one month time limit, the penalty for not participating becomes progressively more severe. For the first instance of failure to participate, the penalty is a 25% reduction in the family's TFA payment for three months. For the second instance of non-compliance, the penalty is a 35% reduction in the TFA payment for three months. For all subsequent instances of non-compliance during the twenty-one month time limit, the penalty is ineligibility for TFA payments for three months. Also, when the adult who fails to comply is the only recipient of TFA, the assistance unit of one is ineligible for benefits for three consecutive months for the first, second and third offense. The three months that the family does not receive TFA payments do not count in determining twenty-one months of time limited eligibility.

If the family is penalized more than one time during the twenty-one month time limit, they are given the opportunity to participate in an Individual Performance Contract (IPC). If the IPC is successfully completed an extension may be granted. If the IPC is unsuccessful no future extension is allowed unless the family experiences special circumstances such as domestic violence or it becomes exempt from work requirements.

If a family fails to participate without good cause during an extension, the penalty is ineligibility for the remainder of the extension period. No future extension is allowed unless the family experiences special circumstances such as domestic violence.

TEEN-PREGNANCY PREVENTION

Sec. 402(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(v) - This Teen-Pregnancy Prevention part describes how the state intends to establish goals and take action to prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies, with special emphasis on teenage pregnancies, and establish numerical goals for reducing the illegitimacy ratio of the state (as defined in Section 403(a)(2)(C)(iii) of the Social Security Act), for calendar years 2009 through 2011.

The Department of Social Services funds twelve pregnancy prevention programs that include a component that requires the grantees to work more intensively with at risk teens of both sexes. Programs include components to comprehensively address family issues including health, education and other life issues.

DSS' Teen Pregnancy Prevention Initiative (TPPI) funds municipal and non-profit agencies that serve teens at risk of pregnancy due to academic, economic, family, or other indicators. The agencies are contracted to provide services under one of two models:

- (1) A Youth Development model, which provides teens with academic assistance, sex education, job clubs and mental and physical health services to address factors that contribute to risky behaviors.
- (2) A Service Learning model which provides participants with positive experiences and alternatives to risky behaviors by requiring them to participate in volunteer activities.

The UCONN Health Center, Division of Family Planning, works with the TPPI by analyzing Department of Public Health data and presenting statistics and trends to identify cities experiencing significant or increasing incidents of birth to teens. DSS uses this information to make program decisions and establish contracts with providers in targeted communities through a competitive procurement process. TANF funds are awarded to selected contractors to manage the programs.

DSS also contracts with Philliber Research Associates (PRA) to analyze data collected from program participants who complete pre and post assessments. The assessments focus on risky behavior indicators including, but not limited to, sexual behavior, unlawful behavior, and academic issues. PRA then measures the efficacy of each individual program receiving TANF funds to accomplish its goal of reducing teen or out-of-wedlock pregnancy. Results from pre and post program assessments are used to evaluate program impacts and inform future program decisions.

The department worked with the Department of Public Health to include the collection of marital status information on birth certificates to allow more accurate data collection on out-of-wedlock pregnancies. DSS has set numerical goals for reducing the number out-of-wedlock pregnancies for teens between the ages of 15 and 19 to no more than 23 births per 1,000 for FFY 2009, 22 births per 1,000 in FFY 2010 and 22 births per 1,000 in FFY 2011.

STATUTORY RAPE

Sec. 402(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(vi) – This Statutory Rape part describes how the state intends to conduct a program, designed to reach state and local law enforcement officials, the education system, and relevant counseling services, that provides education and training on the problem of statutory rape so that teenage pregnancy prevention programs may be expanded in scope to include men.

The Governor has declared that statutory rape laws be enforced throughout the state and convened an interagency group to develop a protocol for referral of statutory rape cases. She has appointed a special prosecutor to enforce the statutory rape laws in Hartford. Hartford is the city with the highest teen birth rate in the state. In addition, the Department of Social Services (DSS) has notified all of its employees that information pertaining to any possible case of statutory rape should be referred to the Department of Children and Families (DCF) for investigation of possible child abuse. DCF may further refer the case to the Chief State's Attorney's Office for prosecution. DSS also encourages the victim and her family to report the case to the Chief State's Attorney's Office.

DSS together with the Department of Public Health completed a media campaign with two focuses. The first was to educate women about their rights and the statutory rape laws. The second focus targeted young men to inform them that statutory rape is a crime in Connecticut and will be prosecuted. Brochures were developed and distributed to schools and local community agencies.

Teen-pregnancy prevention programs funded by DSS work intensively with young men as well as young women to address issues of health, education and other life issues.

Connecticut provides assistance to mandatory and optional qualified aliens, as defined in Title IV of P.L. 104 - 193. All eligibility requirements, level of benefits and other provisions that pertain to U.S. citizens also apply to these non-citizens.

Aliens determined eligible for assistance must pursue citizenship to the extent possible. This requirement does not apply to victims of domestic violence or persons with mental retardation.

SECTION B – PART IV
OBJECTIVE CRITERIA

Sec. 402(a)(1)(B) of the Social Security Act

(iii) – This Objective Criteria part sets forth objective criteria for the delivery of the benefits and the determination of eligibility and for fair and equitable treatment, including an explanation of how the state will provide opportunities for recipients who have been adversely affected to be heard in a state administrative or appeal process.

Connecticut’s Objective Criteria

The State of Connecticut has developed objective criteria for the delivery of benefits, the determination of eligibility, and for fair and equitable treatment. These criteria are described in official state policies and regulations. The policies and regulations have been legally adopted under applicable provisions of state law.

Connecticut’s objective criteria for delivery of benefits and determination of eligibility for TFA include standards of promptness for the determination of eligibility, periodic reviews of eligibility, standards of verification, determination of good cause for not complying with employment services requirements, and treatment and limits on income and resources.

The standard of promptness is forty-five days from the date of application for inactive cases. If the family applies for an extension of benefits before the end of the twenty-one month time limit or extension, the standard of promptness is 30 days.

Periodic reviews of eligibility are every twelve months and in the twentieth month of the time limit.

Documents are the primary sources of verification. Affidavits are accepted when other sources of verification are not available. The preponderance of evidence is the department’s standard of verification.

Good cause for non-compliance with and employment services activity is defined as circumstances beyond a person’s control that reasonably prevent a person from participating in an activity.

Earned income of recipients is totally excluded up to the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). Once earnings reach the FPL, the family becomes ineligible for assistance. Unearned income must be less than the department’s standard of need for a family to be eligible for TFA.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT
TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES (TANF)
STATE PLAN

SECTION B - PART III

The resource limit is $3,000. Families are allowed to own a vehicle with an equity value less than $9,500 or a vehicle used to transport a handicapped family member.

Benefits are paid through electronic benefits transfer into an account that may be accessed by the eligible family or through direct deposit to the recipient's own bank account. The department may limit a person's control over an account through restricted payment or by providing payment directly to a third party when it has been determined that the person has mismanaged his or her finances.

Connecticut's Appeals Process

Connecticut provides timely and adequate notice prior to taking an adverse action and provides opportunities for the recipients who have been adversely affected to be heard in a state administered appeals process. There are set time limits for requesting and holding hearings and issuing decisions. Hearings are presented before impartial hearing officers. Clients are allowed to present a case, bring witnesses, ask questions and cross-examine. If the client is unhappy with the decision, he or she may request reconsideration or appeal to the courts.

WORK OPTION

Sec. 402(a)(1)(B) of the Social Security Act

(iv) - Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Section, unless the chief executive officer of the state opts out of this provision by notifying the Secretary, a state shall, consistent with the exception provided in section 407(e)(2), require a parent or caretaker receiving assistance under the program who, after receiving such assistance for 2 months is not exempt from work requirements and is not engaged in work, as determined under section 407(c), to participate in community service employment, with minimum hours per week and tasks to be determined by the state.

On September 25, 1996, the Governor sent a letter to the Secretary of Health and Human Services to opt out of this provision. While the state may use community service as a work activity, requiring every parent or caretaker do it after two months of assistance is not consistent with the design of the Jobs First program.

Amendments May 2009

The State of Connecticut Department of Social Services is proposing to revise the State Plan for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program for FFY 2009-2011.

The TANF Plan 2009-2011, initially submitted to the Administration for Children and Families on December 30, 2008, includes a summary of the two new changes on page 5 and is available for review by visiting the Department of Social Services website <http://www.ct.gov/dss/> in the Publications link to News & Updates.

- Effective April 1, 2009, a revision is being made to the Medical Assistance to Aliens component of the state's TANF program to only cover legal alien parents in families with income under 185% of the federal poverty level. Effective that date the state has elected an optional expansion of the its Medicaid program to cover qualified aliens who are under 21 years of age, pregnant women, and postpartum women within 60 days of giving birth. This change allows these children, pregnant women and and post-partum women to qualify for federal Medicaid funding under revisions to federal law authorized by the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act (CHIPRA). As a result state-funded TANF-funded medical assistance is no longer needed for these individuals.
- Effective June 1, 2009, Department of Social Services TANF Outreach services include costs associated with the administration of the Help for People in Need program. This is an informational brochure, provided to all recipients of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) with income less than 185% of the federal poverty level. This outreach effort allows these SNAP recipients to be considered to be categorically eligible for SNAP based on their receipt of this TANF program benefit.
