STATE PLAN 2012-2014

INTRODUCTION

This plan describes Connecticut's programs that furnish financial assistance and services to needy families in a manner to fulfill the purposes of the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program. Connecticut administers a variety of programs through a number of state agencies under the TANF program. Each of the programs is designed to meet at least one of the following purposes of TANF.

TANF Purpose:

1. Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.
2. End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.
3. Prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies and establish annual numerical goals for preventing and reducing the incidence of these pregnancies.
4. Encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

The plan is for the federal fiscal years of 2012, 2013, and 2014.

OVERVIEW OF CONNECTICUT'S TANF PROGRAMS

Sec. 402 (a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(i) - This Overview part outlines how the state intends to conduct a program, designed to serve all political subdivisions in the state (not necessarily in a uniform manner), that provides assistance to needy families with (or expecting) children and provides parents with job preparation, work, and support services to enable them to leave the program and become self-sufficient.

Connecticut's Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program provides assistance to needy families and pregnant women meeting eligibility criteria in all political subdivisions of the state. Assistance for basic needs is provided to needy families through the Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) component of the Jobs First program. Assistance also is provided to needy families for an energy assistance program, child care assistance for unemployed persons, and foster care maintenance.

Two-Parent TFA cases are those with two parents as defined at 45 CFR 261.24. The Two-Parent component of the TFA cash assistance program for those meeting these criteria is funded as a Solely State Funded (SSF) program, and is no longer part of the TANF program or claimed as a separate state program. Other TFA families with two parents, other than those included in this definition, continue to be part of the TANF program. Although the eligibility criteria (including income and asset limits) vary from program to program, a family must meet the definition of a needy family to qualify for any of these programs. Connecticut defines a needy family as a family with gross income less than seventy five percent (75%) of Connecticut's median income level. The family must include a dependent child and a caretaker relative.

The ultimate goal of Connecticut's TANF programs is to provide assistance to needy families to enable them to move out of poverty and into self-sufficiency.

A dependent child must be either less than 18 years of age, 18 years of age and attending secondary school or its equivalent, or under age 24 and attending a post secondary school and considered a dependent student through the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) process, or under age 25 and participating in a TANF job training or subsidized employment program.

A caretaker relative is a relative who cares for and supervises the dependent child. The caretaker may be a parent or other person related by blood, through adoption or marriage to a relative or another adult acting in loco parentis.

A needy parent is a parent of a child who is a member of a needy family. The parent may be the custodial or non-custodial parent.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT
TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES (TANF)
STATE PLAN 2012-2014 ■ SECTION A - PART I

A. FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

The Family Assistance Programs part outlines TANF programs that provide assistance to needy families.

A. 1. Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) - Department of Social Services

The Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) component of Jobs First is an employment focused, time limited assistance program based on the assumption that welfare should be a temporary program of assistance and it is better to work than to be on welfare. Recipients are encouraged to assume personal responsibility for their economic self-sufficiency. Unless they meet exemption criteria, adults are required to seek and retain employment if it is available. Recipients unable to secure employment without intervention from the state will receive services, including education and training, that will assist them in becoming employed. Applicants must attend the initial employment services assessment interview and help develop an employment plan before TFA benefits are granted.

The TFA program attempts to direct participants to employment sufficient to move them off assistance within twenty-one months. The program contains many features that support this objective. The asset limit is $3,000 so families may set aside money for emergencies. Families are allowed to own a reliable car to seek employment, to travel to and from work, or to transport a handicapped family member. To be excluded, the family's equity in the vehicle must not exceed $9,500 or the vehicle must be used to transport a handicapped family member. Earned income of recipients is totally excluded up to the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). Once earnings reach the FPL, the family becomes ineligible for assistance. Up to $50 per month of current child support is passed through to the family each month and excluded as income. Child care and transportation benefits are provided in order to enable individuals to prepare for, obtain and retain employment.

If a family member refuses to participate in Employment Services activities the family is penalized through grant reduction. Employment Services and benefits to support required activities are provided through Connecticut's Department of Labor.

If the family has made a good faith effort to comply with the employment activities but still has income below the payment standard at the end of twenty-one months of assistance, a six-month extension of benefits may be given. Extensions may also be given to families who have encountered circumstances beyond their control such as domestic violence. To qualify for an extension the family's income cannot exceed the payment standard corresponding to the size of the family.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT
TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES (TANF)
STATE PLAN 2012-2014 ■ SECTION A - PART I

A. FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

A. 1. Continued

The state imposes a 60-month time limit and time limited families cannot receive more than two extensions to the twenty-one month time limit except when all adults meet one or more of the following criteria:

- The adult is precluded from obtaining or maintaining employment due to domestic violence or another circumstance beyond his or her control, or
- Despite working thirty-five or more hours per week, earning at least the minimum wage, the adult earns less than the family's TFA payment standard, or
- The adult is employed and working less than thirty-five hours per week due to (1) a documented medical impairment that limits his/her hours of work, or (2) the need to care for a disabled member of the household; or
- The adult has two or more substantiated barriers to employment such as the lack of available child care, substance abuse or addiction, severe mental or physical health problems, one or more severe learning disabilities, domestic violence, or a child who has a serious physical or behavioral health problem.

If each adult in the family meets at least one of the following exemption criteria, the family is not subject to the state time limits. These exemptions do not apply to the federal time limit. A person is exempt if he or she is incapacitated; age 60 or older; responsible for the care of an incapacitated family member; a non-parent caretaker relative who does not receive assistance; caring for a child under the age of one who is not subject to the family cap; pregnant if a physician has certified that she is unable to work; or unemployable. A six week exemption is also given when a pregnancy ends. This exemption may be extended if a medical professional certifies that the person is unable to work. Minor parents attending and satisfactorily completing high school or high school equivalency programs and their children are exempt from the time limit. However, unmarried minor parents who are not attending and who have not completed high school or its equivalent are not eligible for benefits.

In addition to a family that includes a member who has been battered or subject to extreme cruelty, a family that is exempt from the twenty-one month time limit is exempt from the state's 60-month time limit. Also, these families are considered hardship cases for the sixty month limit of TANF funded benefits.

Effective October 1, 2008 TFA families, in which all adults are exempt based on incapacity, age 60 or older, pregnant or post-partum, or unemployable, identified as "Certain Exempt" are funded outside of the TANF program in a solely state-funded program.

A. FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Other features of the TFA program include the following: Additional assistance for a child conceived and born to a family receiving assistance is one half of what it would normally be. Minor parents are required to live with their parents or other adults.

Any relative may receive assistance for a child. In addition, legal guardians and others acting in loco parentis may receive such assistance. Pregnant women are eligible for assistance throughout the entire pregnancy. Children are eligible for assistance until they reach age 19 as long as they are still attending high school or its equivalent.

All adult members and minor parents who are caretaker relatives are required to participate in the digital imaging process. At the time of application, an electronic image of the person's index fingers is taken and matched with a computer database of all other recipients to determine if the person is receiving assistance under another name.

The TFA benefit levels vary throughout the state based on the average cost of rent in each area. There are three regions in the state each with a different benefit level. The benefit levels and the towns covered by each level are described in Addendum A.

TANF Purpose #1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Commingled State and Federal Funds. (Solely State Funded for TFA for Two Parent families and "certain exempt" families.)

Effective October 1, 2008, benefits to Certain Exempt Households is funded as a Solely State Funded (SSF) program. These benefits had been funded as regular TFA through Federal TANF and Commingled funds (FFY 2008) and had previously been funded as a Separate State Program (prior to FFY 2008).

Effective October 1, 2007, in Connecticut cash assistance to two-parent families, as defined at 45 CFR 261.24, is funded through a Solely State Funded (SSF) program. Two Parent families are eligible for non-assistance benefits such as Jobs First Employment Services.

A. FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

A. 2. Child Care Assistance for Unemployed Persons - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides child care assistance to TFA family members preparing for employment through Jobs First Employment Services activities. Child care assistance is also provided to teen parents who need child care while completing high school.

Child care assistance payments are based on several factors including: the local market rate, the child care setting, the number of hours care is needed, the age of the child and the special needs of the child. Unemployed families are not required to pay a family fee.

TANF Purpose #1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program

A. 3. Emergency Assistance Foster Care Maintenance Months 1-12, Department Of Children and Families

Connecticut provides foster care maintenance to children who are in the custody of the Department of Children and Families (DCF). TANF covers the portion of the maintenance services that were authorized under the prior Emergency Assistance (EAF) program for clients who would have qualified for Emergency Assistance under that prior program. Benefits are funded by TANF for children who remain in foster care up to twelve months of care and are considered assistance. This includes Case Management Services – services provided by DCF staff under the state’s Emergency Assistance program in effect on September 30, 1995, as well as a variety of home and community based services to families to address issues that may cause a child to be abused or neglected in an effort to allow a child to remain in his or her home.

These services enable needy families to care for their children in their own homes or in the homes of relatives or were authorized through the Emergency Assistance program described in Connecticut’s IV-A State Plan in effect on September 30, 1995.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

B. FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS – MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT (MOE) PROGRAMS

The Family Assistance Programs – Maintenance of Effort (MOE) Programs part of the plan outlines programs that provide assistance to needy families that utilize state maintenance of effort (MOE) funds.

Program benefits provided to eligible families are evidenced in program descriptions.

B. 1. Energy Assistance - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides energy assistance to help to pay for heating costs for families with income below 60 percent of State Median Income (SMI) guidelines. This is a separate state program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds to provide energy assistance to families who qualify for both TFA and the Energy Assistance program.

Households that are required to pay for heating costs separately from rent may receive basic benefits, crisis benefits and safety net benefits. Households with heat included in their rental payment may receive a renter's benefit. Families with a member who is elderly, disabled, or under the age of six are considered vulnerable households and qualify for higher basic benefits than other households. There is a limit on liquid assets of $10,000 for homeowners and $7,000 for non-homeowners. The charts below indicate::

The basic benefit levels available to families are as follows:

POVERTY LEVEL GUIDELINES	VULNERABLE HOUSEHOLDS	NON-VULNERABLE HOUSEHOLDS
Up to 100%	$255	$220
101% - 125%	$220	$195
126% - 150%	$195	$175

The benefit levels for renters are as follows:

POVERTY LEVEL GUIDELINES	RENTER BENEFIT
Up to 100%	$20
101% - 125%	$15
126% - 150%	$10

Crisis benefits are provided to households unable to secure primary heat, causing a life-threatening situation. Up to $400 is provided to purchase a fuel delivery.

Safety Net Assistance is provided to households that have exhausted crisis assistance benefits and are in a life-threatening situation. Up to $400 per occurrence is provided to purchase an emergency fuel delivery.

B. 2. Aliens - Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides Temporary Family Assistance (TFA) to legal aliens who reside in the state. Eligibility criteria and benefit levels for aliens are the same as they are for citizens.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

Funding: Segregated State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds to provide cash assistance to qualified aliens who are not eligible for federal TANF benefits solely due to their alien status.

B. 3. Non-hardship Families who Received more than 60 months of TFA Benefits - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides TFA benefits to families who have exhausted the federal 60 month limit on benefits, but have not exhausted the state's 60 month limit and who do not meet the state's hardship criteria. The exemption criteria for the state time limit is the same as the hardship criteria for the federal limit. When a family loses an exemption they also lose the hardship designation. The state will continue to provide benefits to these families until they reach the state's 60 month time limit. Eligibility criteria and benefit levels for these families are the same as they are for families who have not yet received 60 months of federal TANF benefits.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

Funding: Segregated State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE MOE PROGRAMS

This Services and Non-Assistance Maintenance of Effort (MOE) Programs part describes how Connecticut provides services and non-assistance benefits to needy families through TANF programs through Maintenance of Effort programs. The programs described in this section utilize either segregated state funds or separate state programs.

Program benefits provided to eligible families are evidenced in program descriptions.

C.1. Connecticut Workforce Advancement Grants for Education (CT WAGE) - Department of Higher Education

Charter Oak State College's Connecticut Workforce Advancement Grants for Education (CT WAGE) program is designed to address the needs of low income parents who could, with post secondary education in career and occupational programs, improve the quality of their lives. The program assists low-income, working parents in completing a college degree. The program is modeled after the Women in Transition program. All individuals provided with services will meet the criteria of "needy parents" as defined in this plan. CT WAGE students must meet academic and financial eligibility criteria.

The CT WAGE participants are provided with laptop computers, internet access, text books or reimbursement for books for coursework, funding for courses not covered by financial aid, academic, career and personal counseling, and other related expenses that may include child care or transportation. The technology tools allow the student to take online courses and to communicate with faculty, student support staff and other students. Taking online courses alleviates the need for childcare and transportation costs and allows the family to spend more quality time together.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C.2. Women in Transition (WIT) - Department of Higher Education

Charter Oak State College's Women in Transition program (WIT) is designed to address the needs of the underemployed and under-served who could, with a college degree, improve the quality of their lives. The Women in Transition program targets minority, low-income, single mothers, many of whom are former AFDC/TANF recipients. All individuals provided with services will meet the criteria of "Needy Parents" as defined in Connecticut's State Plan for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) Program.

The WIT participants are provided with laptop computers, Internet access, a printer, funding for courses not covered by financial aid, textbooks, and academic and career counseling. The technology tools allow the student to take online courses and to communicate with the WIT Coordinator, faculty, and other students. Taking online courses alleviates the need for childcare and transportation costs and allows the family to spend more quality time together.

The WIT counselor contacts each student on a regular schedule to discuss progress. The student works with the counselor to determine the appropriate degree concentration. Together they carefully consider and evaluate (1) the participant's goals regarding future employment and/or career change and (2) the immediate labor market employment and potential salary levels for that specific area. In addition, academic weaknesses are discussed and additional coursework is recommended to improve in those areas, e.g. writing and technology skills. Funds are used to provide recruitment, assessment, counseling, technology training and support, books, tuition and other fees not covered by federal or state financial aid.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C. 3. Jobs Funnel - Department of Labor, Office of Workforce Competitiveness

The Office of Workforce Competitiveness in the Department of Labor funds Jobs Funnel programs in various cities to help individuals avail themselves of career opportunities in construction jobs. The projects represent joint, public-private efforts to create career opportunities in the construction trades for residents in participating cities. Services through the Jobs Funnel projects include outreach, recruitment, assessment, case management, pre-employment preparation (consisting of math, remediation, life skills workshops, customized training, and/or pre-apprenticeship training), job placement, and retention support services for people who want to pursue construction related careers. The program offers an initial training followed by assistance in finding employment in apprenticeships and other jobs in the local areas. Integral to the program are the outreach, assessment, and support services provided by community-based organizations. By providing these services, the goal of the program is to help participants become more job-ready.

Services for program participants who are members of families with dependent children are U.S. citizens, and have income less than seventy five percent (75%) of the State Median Income (SMI) are funded by the TANF program.

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents by promoting work, job preparation, and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C.4. Child Care Assistance Programs (Non-TFA and former TFA families) - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides child care assistance to working families transitioning off TFA and non-TFA working families.

Initial eligibility for child care assistance is based on countable family income and the need for child care. At application, a family may be eligible if their countable income is below fifty percent (50%) of the state median income (SMI) related to family size. Child support received or paid by the family is not considered countable income. Once determined eligible, a family may receive child care assistance as long as their need for care continues and their countable income remains under the income limit. There is no time limit on a family's eligibility for child care assistance.

Child care payment rates are based on several factors including: the local market rate, the child care setting, the number of hours care is needed, the age of the child and the special needs of the child. All working families are required to pay a portion of the approved child care assistance payment. This Family Fee, paid by the family directly to the child care provider, is calculated based on countable family income in accordance with the following scale.

COUNTABLE FAMILY INCOME	FAMILY FEE
Less than 20% of SMI	2%
20% to 30% of SMI	4%
30% to 40% of SMI	6%
40% to 50% of SMI	8%
50% or more of SMI	10%

TANF Purpose #2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

Funding: Separate State Program that utilizes state maintenance of effort funds.

C. 6. Medical Assistance for Aliens - Department of Social Services

This medical assistance is provided to the parents in families with income under 185% of the federal poverty level. Effective April 1, 2009.

C. 7. Supportive Housing for Families - Department of Social Services

The Department of Social Services (DSS) provides supportive services for families participating in of the State of Connecticut's Next Steps Supportive Housing Initiative. This initiative is designed to create permanent, affordable service-supported housing opportunities for individuals and families who are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless, particularly people experiencing repeated or persistent homelessness. The purpose of the initiative is to enable homeless families and individuals to stabilize their lives and to regain a stake in the community.

DSS provides scattered site or project-based rental assistance through the State Rental Assistance Program (no longer a TANF program). It provides TANF Separate State Program funding for the delivery of supportive services to families with special needs through annual contracts with projects that serve among the target populations, families with children aged 14 or younger that are/have:

- homeless or at imminent risk of homelessness and;
- have income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of state median income;
- headed by adults with multiple barriers to employment and housing stability, such as cognitive limitations, history of trauma, mental illness and/or chemical dependency;
- presently involved in the Department of Children and Families (DCF) system, either in protective services or voluntary services; and/or
- reuniting after DCF out-of-home placement.

Supportive services funded under the Next Steps program are services that enhance and support the family's ability to retain permanent housing, access and retain meaningful employment and increase their skills and income, access public and early childhood education, sustain good health, make connections to the larger community, and achieve greater self-reliance.

TANF Purpose #1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

Funds are made available to School Readiness Councils in communities with large numbers of low-income children. The Councils assess community needs, identify gaps, and allocate funds. Each Council is allocated funds to increase the number of 3- and 4-year old children served in early care and education programs and to improve the quality of those services. The Councils are required to ensure that full-day early childhood care and education services are available year-round. Additionally, funds are made available on a statewide basis to train new early childhood teachers.

D. 2. Extended Day Treatment Program - Department of Children and Families

The Extended Day Treatment program, operated by the Department of Children and Families, provides case management, counseling, and support services in the community before and after school in order to promote positive behaviors. Services are provided to children and youth with behavioral health needs who have returned to their homes or are at home but at risk of placement due to mental health or emotional disturbance. Services are provided daily before and after school, with extended daily service on days or weeks in which school is not in session.

This program qualifies for TANF under Purpose 3 ("to reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies"). The ACF "Funding Guide" states that programs that are operated during non-school hours support the third purpose of TANF, because these programs offer supervision during the day when youth are likely to engage in at-risk behaviors (page 11 of the "Funding Guide"). Since the Extended Day Treatment program provides services before or after school, and at other times when school is not in session, it would meet this criteria. There are no income guidelines for this program.

D. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

D. 5. Individual and Family Grant Program - Department of Developmental Services

The Department of Developmental Services administers a program called the Individual and Family Grant program. This program makes grants to families that have children who are diagnosed with mental retardation. The purpose of the grants is to enable the families to purchase respite services. Families may also use the grant to purchase special equipment, or to pay for activities or emergencies. The respite services include in-home respite care and temporary out-of-home respite care. "Respite" provides time for the family to re-energize, deal with emergency situations, or engage in activities that may be neglected as a result of the ongoing demands of caring for a family member who has mental retardation. The goal of the program is to support persons with mental retardation to live with their families in their communities. Grants ranging from $600 per year to $1,000 per year, depending on need, are available to "needy families" with income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level for the family's size. In extraordinary circumstances, the maximum Individual and Family Grant payment per year is $5,000. These grants do not represent 'basic income support' and therefore do not meet the criteria for "assistance."

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

FUNDING: Segregated Federal TANF funds

D. 6. State Respite Centers Program - Department of Developmental Services

The Department of Developmental Services administers respite care through DDS staff and through contracts with private providers. These services provide temporary out-of-home relief to families with children who are diagnosed with mental retardation. The purpose of providing temporary (e.g., one to seven days) out-of-home respite is to enable the family to re-energize, deal with emergency situations, or engage in activities that may be neglected as a result of the ongoing demands of caring for a family member who has mental retardation. The goal of the respite program is to support persons with mental retardation to live with their families in their communities. The program is available to family's with income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level for the family's size.

D. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

D.7. Employment Services – Department of Labor

The state provides employment services to all recipients of Temporary Family Assistance (TFA). Employment services are also provided to those who are participating in an employment service activity authorized by their employment plan at the time of becoming ineligible for TFA until they complete that activity. The state refers to these employment services as Jobs First Employment Services. The Connecticut Department of Labor (DOL) administers Jobs First Employment Services (JFES) through CT Works. CT Works is a partnership of the CT Department of Labor, the five Regional Workforce Development Boards (RWDB's), and other state and local agencies, including the Department of Social Services.

Jobs First Employment Services are provided to adults or minor parents in families applying for or receiving Temporary Family Assistance funded by TANF, and to Two-Parent families funded as a solely state funded program. All TFA applicants and recipients, including Two-Parent families, are eligible for employment services even if they are not required to participate by the regulations governing the TFA program. If a TANF funded TFA recipient is in an employment service activity authorized by the employment plan at the time of becoming ineligible for TFA, employment services continue until completion of that activity, provided the individual remains part of a needy family with income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level.

Similarly, services to participants in two-parent families who become ineligible for TFA while in an authorized activity will continue until the completion of that activity.

The goals of the Jobs First Employment Services program are as follows:

1. Enable TFA participants, through employment, to become independent from cash assistance by the end of the 21-month time limit established by state law;
2. Enable TFA participants who become independent from cash assistance to remain employed and independent of TFA; and
3. Ensure that federally established participation rates are met through employment of TFA participants and engagement in other countable TANF work activities deemed appropriate based on assessments of clients' needs.

Operating Principles

1. The primary focus of the Jobs First Employment Services Program is to assist participants to become independent of assistance through employment.

D. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

2. Every participant is assigned to activities that will enable him/her to become and remain independent of TFA. Whenever possible, activities are combined in a way that will meet the federally established participation rates. Each service delivery area manages its caseload in such a way as to meet the state target levels for the participation rates.
3. An individualized employment plan based on assessment of skills, abilities, work experience, education level, aptitudes, interests and program goals is developed for every participant. The individual employment plans for parents in a two-parent family are coordinated with each other in order to meet program goals. The combination of both parents' plans constitutes a plan for the family.
4. If, based on the assessment, it is determined that the family is capable within the first 21 months or anytime during an extension period of obtaining employment at earnings equal to the Federal Poverty Level for their family size, the participant (s) are required to find and/or maintain employment at the Federal Poverty Level as soon as possible.
5. If it is determined that the family cannot obtain earnings at the Federal Poverty Level (in the case of a two-parent family, both parents wages or potential wages are combined) without further training and/or education, the participant (s) are assigned work, education and/or training activities that will maximize the family's income level within the first 21 months of assistance. For participants in extensions, work, education and/or training activities that will maximize the family income level as soon as possible are assigned. Whenever possible, employment is combined with education and training in such a way that the combination is countable toward the federally established participation rate.
6. As long as consistent with the program goals, employment plan activities are based on the participant's interests, ability, availability of resources and labor market demands.
7. If it is evident that the family will not be able to become or remain independent of TFA through current employment or future employment that is secured (such as seasonal employment) without additional education and/or training, new or additional activities designed to increase the family income may be assigned, which may preclude continuation of existing employment or self-employment.
8. These operating principles apply to all participants according to their needs, regardless of race, ethnicity, gender, religion, disability or sexual orientation.

D. SERVICES & NON-ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Type of Employment Services

Connecticut's Jobs First Employment Services is a "balanced work first" program. This means that if the welfare recipient is capable of going to work, he or she is expected to work. It also means that if welfare recipients are capable of working, but need education or training to improve earnings to better support their families, they will generally be expected to work while receiving that training. In some cases, work follows immediately upon completion of intensive, short-term training or education.

To attain all three program goals, Jobs First Employment Services include a combination of job search, employment, education, training and support services.

The combination of services varies with each individual participant. This balance of employment activity with other services utilizes individual strengths and resources while addressing employment-related needs. This balanced work first approach ensures that participants will not only become independent, but will remain independent from assistance while the federal participation rates are met.

Each participant, including volunteers, may receive employment services that include, but are not limited to the following: orientation, assessment, case management, employment plan development, barrier resolution, employment related education and training programs, subsidized employment, job search skill training, job placement services, case management, support services (such as Special Benefits), retention services, and re-employment services.

Post-secondary education (two and four year degree programs) are allowable Jobs First employment services when included in employment plan as permitted by state and federal regulations. Self-initiated participation in such educational programs may co-exist with approved plan activities if funded with other resources, to the extent that such enrollment does not preclude participation in required plan activities.

Entry into Jobs First Employment Services

Initial entry into the Jobs First Employment Services Program is through a referral from the Department of Social Services (DSS). DSS conducts a service needs assessment of the TFA recipient during or soon after the initial TFA intake interview. The service needs assessment includes gathering information from the recipients on their education, employment and training history; time on assistance and social service needs. The results of the human needs assessment are then forwarded to the local CT Works office.

CT Works Intake

Intake sessions include an orientation, employability assessment, initial employment plan development, eligibility determination for separately funded employment programs, assignment of a case manager and assignment to initial employment plan activities by either Regional Workforce Development Board (RWDB) staff and/or case managers.

All new participants for employment services must attend an intake session. However, special accommodations are made for participants who cannot attend the group sessions due to their employment schedule. These participants are scheduled for separate individual appointments at times that do not interfere with work hours. If necessary, the intake session can be conducted in a combination of phone interviews and mailed correspondence. Participants are not required to miss work, training or a job interview to attend any employment services activity.

Every participant leaves the intake session with a clear understanding of the next step in his/her employment plan, the name and phone number of his/her case manager and a copy of his/her employment plan.

Case Management

After intake into CT Works, the assigned case manager in conjunction with the participant completes the employment plan. The case manager arranges for services, and tracks and monitors the participant to ensure progression towards independence from cash assistance. If the participant does not comply with the provisions of the employment plan without good cause, the case manager refers the participant to the DSS for conciliation and possible sanctioning.

Special Benefits and Childcare Assistance

To facilitate maximum participation, TFA applicants or recipients who participate in employment services are supported by special benefit payments.

Transportation benefits are provided to participants of regular, on-going employment services activities other than unsubsidized employment. Payment is made for bus fares or mileage for driving private automobiles. Bus fares are as charged, not to exceed ten dollars per day. Payment for mileage for private automobiles is two dollars for up to the first ten miles, and twenty cents per mile after that up to a maximum of fifty miles per day.

A participation allowance which is intended to assist participants with transportation and baby-sitting expenses is provided for short-term, intermittent employment services

D. 8. Individual Performance Contracts (IPCs) – Department of Labor

Families that are at risk of becoming ineligible for an extension due to non-compliance with Employment Services at the end of the 21 month time limit are offered an Individual Performance Contract (IPC). Components of an IPC include intensive short-term case management and may also include job training, job search, volunteer work, participation in parenting programs, counseling or any other requirements that will lead to independence from TFA benefits. If, by the end of the twenty-one (21) month time limit, the individual is successfully meeting the requirements of the IPC and does not incur an additional penalty for non-compliance with Employment Services, the family is considered to meet the good faith effort criteria for qualifying for an extension.

D. 9. Compulsive Gamblers Program - Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services

The "Connecticut Partnership for Responsible Gambling" (the Partnership) was created by the Connecticut Lottery Corporation. The Partnership is designed to educate consumers on problem gambling, underage gambling, and to promote responsible play. The Partnership also serves as a leading resource for responsible gambling, warning signs of problem gambling and available treatment services.

Through the Problem Gambling Services program, DMHAS provides counseling, assessment, financial management counseling, and peer counseling. They also provide gambling prevention services and perform advocacy work. The program operates in 15 sites throughout the State, which are either State-operated or operated by private non-for-profit organizations.

The program addresses problem gambling, which can be a source of family separation and can be a contributing cause of lack of parental support. The ACF "Guide on Funding Services for Children and Families through the TANF Program" notes "some activities that are reasonably calculated to accomplish (TANF Purpose 4) might include initiatives to promote responsible parenthood including responsible fatherhood and increase the capacity of fathers and mothers to provide emotional and financial support for their children." (Page 11 of the Guide). A recent study of the Problem Gambling Services program showed that many of the clients are married and that pathological gambling does lead to negative social and financial outcomes, such as divorce and unemployment. There are no income guidelines for this program.

The Young Adult Services program, operated out of the Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services, serves young adults in three different subgroups:

- young adults with psychiatric disorders who are transitioning from the Department of Children and Families to the adult mental health system
- young adults with Pervasive Developmental Disorders and mental illness accompanied by high risk behaviors;
- young adults with serious psychiatric disorders and psychosexual behavioral problems who have demonstrated a history of sexually aggressive behavior.

Each of these populations has clients who are at risk for producing unwanted or out-of-wedlock pregnancies. Young adult services staff identify this risk factor in their clients and provide intervention to lessen the risk.

D.11. Child Care Assistance Programs (TFA Recipients) - Department of Social Services

Connecticut provides child care assistance to families receiving TFA to enable parents to work. Initial eligibility for child care assistance is based on countable family income and the need for child care. At application, a family may be eligible if their countable income is below fifty percent (50%) of the state median income (SMI) related to family size. TFA benefits and child support received or paid by the family are not considered countable income. Once determined eligible, a family may receive child care assistance as long as their need for care continues and their countable income remains under the income limit. There is no time limit on a family's eligibility for child care assistance.

Child care payment rates are based on several factors including: the local market rate, the child care setting, the number of hours care is needed, the age of the child and the special needs of the child. All working families are required to pay a portion of the approved child care assistance payment. This Family Fee, paid by the family directly to the child care provider, is calculated based on countable family income in accordance with the following scale.

COUNTABLE FAMILY INCOME	FAMILY FEE
Less than 20% of SMI	2%
20% to 30% of SMI	4%
30% to 40% of SMI	6%
40% to 50% of SMI	8%

D. 12. Diversion - Department of Social Services

Connecticut's diversion program became effective October 1, 1998. This program provides qualifying applicants with up to three times the amount the family would receive each month under the Jobs First program. Applicants are screened to determine if a lump sum payment can address the issue that compelled them to apply for assistance. Applicants must be determined to be otherwise eligible for Jobs First assistance, meet the program profile characteristics and have short-term needs that, if provided, will prevent the need for ongoing cash assistance.

To meet the program profile characteristics a person must be employed or have a job offer that will begin within three months, have a solid work history, or have marketable job skills that will lead to employment.

After eligibility is determined, applicants have three working days to refuse diversion and accept full assistance. Applicants subject to the time limit who accept diversion payments are treated as if they have received three months of Jobs First cash assistance. For families subject to the time limit, three months is deducted from their twenty-one month time limit. Medicaid eligibility under section 1931 is also explored at the time of application. If a family member is employed when section 1931 eligibility ends, transitional Medicaid is given for twelve additional months. The family also may qualify for childcare benefits.

TANF Purpose # 2: End the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work and marriage.

D. 13. Employment Success Program - Department of Social Services

This program is designed to identify and immediately address barriers to employment as part of the initial Jobs First Employment Services assessment process. This program provides Jobs First Employment Services participants with in-depth home based assessments, intensive case management and referral to community resources. The goal is to increase successful employment outcomes and reduce the likelihood of ongoing dependency of the Jobs First program. Also clients with serious conditions are identified and an evaluation for an incapacity exemption from the time-limited program is made.

The services offered on behalf of families with a gross income less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the State Median Income (SMI) and qualify for Temporary Family Assistance.

D. 14. Outreach - Department of Social Services

These services include activities that provide information about TANF and related services or programs for which low income families might be eligible, including Medicaid and SCHIP. This component meets all four TANF purposes.

Outreach services include costs associated with the administration of the Help for People in Need program. This is an informational brochure, provided to all recipients of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) with income less than 185% of the federal poverty level. The brochure contains information on how to access such benefits and services as School Breakfast and School Lunch programs, Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC), HUSKY and Charter Oak health care coverage, Care 4 Kids Child Care benefits, the state's Fatherhood Initiative, Family Planning and Pregnancy Prevention Services, Domestic Violence services, Energy Assistance, Free Tax Preparation services and Housing services. Effective June 1, 2009. This component meets TANF Purposes 3 & 4.

General Outreach Services meets TANF Purposes 1, 2, 3, and 4, providing access to programs. The Help for People in Need component meets TANF Purposes 3 & 4:

D. 15. Teen Pregnancy Prevention Initiative (TPPI) - Department of Social Services

The Department of Social Services (DSS) operates a statewide teen pregnancy prevention initiative comprised of individual programs run by not-for profit organizations and municipalities in thirteen (13) Connecticut towns and cities. The communities served are: Bridgeport, East Hartford, Hartford, Killingly, Meriden, New Britain, New Haven, New London, Norwich, Torrington, Waterbury, West Haven, and Willimantic. The programs in these areas serve six-hundred ninety (690) participants.

The initiative was restructured and went out to bid in 2007 and 2008 with the purpose of procuring teen pregnancy prevention services from not-for-profit organizations and municipalities utilizing proven science-based program models. The implemented programs utilize either of two science-based models: 1) the comprehensive, long-term, holistic, youth development model, based on the Carrera program model; or 2) The Teen Outreach Program, a service learning model, where participants engage in, reflect on, and learn from community service projects. Both of these program models have been evaluated and have shown evidence that they are among the most effective approaches to preventing teen pregnancies. Currently, New Britain, Torrington, Waterbury and Willimantic have implemented Carrera programs. Bridgeport, East Hartford, Hartford, Killingly, Meriden, New Haven, New London, Norwich, and West Haven and have implemented service learning programs.

The current allocation for the DSS funded teen pregnancy prevention initiative funds primarily support the individual programs, but also cover independent research and evaluation with Philliber Research Associates (PRA), statistical analysis (UConn Family Planning Division), training with Michael Carrera who created the Carrera program and Wyman Associates who owns the Teen Outreach Service Learning program.

DSS worked with the Department of Public Health to include the collection of marital status information on birth certificates to allow more accurate data collection on out-of-wedlock pregnancies. DSS has set numerical goals for reducing the number out-of-wedlock pregnancies for teens between the ages of 15 and 19 to no more than 22 births per 1,000 for 2011, 22 births per 1,000 in 2012, 22 births per 1,000 in 2013 and 22 births per 1,000 in 2014.

D. 16. Transportation Programs - Department of Social Services

Connecticut funds five regional programs to assist families in overcoming barriers to employment due to lack of transportation. Each of the region's programs is designed to meet the needs of the families in their area. With a regional focus the Workforce Investment Boards (WIBs) (4) and Council of Governments (COGs)(1) that provide Transportation to Work Services., the Boards assess regional employment and training needs and priorities, conduct planning for and coordinate programs that address those needs. In addition, the Boards create annual employment and training plans, and review regional grant proposals and plans submitted to state agencies by other organizations to assure that all regional planning is consistent with an overall statewide blueprint for workforce development. The WIBs and COGs then subcontract to providers who carry out specific transportation services to families with dependent children currently receiving or are eligible to receive TANF benefits from DSS. Initiatives include new bus routes to target areas with employment opportunities that were previously inaccessible by public transportation; extended hours of bus service to provide transportation for individuals working in the evenings; coordination with Connecticut's Rideshare Company to provide vans where transportation gaps exist; automotive emergency repair services, fare subsidies, and providing a guaranteed free ride home for participants in the case of illness or a family emergency.

The income limit is less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state's median income level. These funds may be used as a match for the Federal Job Access and Reverse Commute grant, in accordance with Section 404(d)(2) of the Social Security Act.

D.17. Alternative In the Community (AICO) - Judicial Branch Court Support Services Division

The General Assembly has appropriated funds to the Court Support Services Division (CSSD) of the Judicial Branch to fund the Alternative In the Community (AICO) program within Connecticut. The AICO program is a community-based program that provides supervision and services to individuals who are 16 or above. This program provides an alternative for specific individuals who without this program would be incarcerated. The Alternative In the Community involve partnerships with local community providers who offer services to the individuals participating in the program and to Families with Service Needs. Program services include: intake, assessment for risk and need, case management, substance abuse assessment, group interventions (employment, cognitive skills, substance abuse), community service restitution; pre-trial urinalysis testing; referral to community resources, including education and job development. These services are considered “non assistance,” as they do not provide for basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing.

TANF Purpose # 3: Prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies.

TANF Purpose # 4: Encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

FUNDING: Segregated Federal TANF funds. Federal TANF funds are used in this program to support activities for United States citizens only. Non-TANF funds are used for the activities of non-citizens.

D. 18. Court Based Juvenile Assessment Services -

This program provides assessment services for youth referred by the courts to the Court Support Services Division of the Judicial Branch. It provides for mental health, substance abuse, and sex offender assessments, which are performed to determine what the specific needs of the individual are in order to address the causes of his or her risky behaviors. Such needs may include, for example, substance abuse services or family counseling. Professionals in the areas of psychology, psychiatry, and substance abuse perform the assessments on the youth referred.

These services are considered “non assistance,” as they do not provide for basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing. In addition, the services are provided to “needy families,” which is described as having an income level less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state median income for family size.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

D. 19. Judicial Branch Counseling Services Program – Judicial Branch

The Judicial Branch provides mental health counseling services in the three state detention centers. Judicial contracts with private providers for services such as: psychiatric assessment, psychotropic medication management, licensed clinical social work assessment and treatment, substance abuse assessment and short-term treatment and psycho-education for the child and the parent(s). The assessment and counseling services are claimed under TANF and the medical services are not.

The mental health and substance abuse services available in the state detention centers provide much needed assessment and early intervention for youths presenting with these types of issues. The research literature shows that children placed in detention for delinquent behavior are at high-risk for further involvement with the criminal justice system. High-risk adolescents involved with the court are also at high-risk or already have a history of out-of-wedlock pregnancy, school failure and unemployment. The adolescent detention population is disproportionately over-represented by children from high conflict families and the children can often continue in the family legacy of family instability.

D. 20. Multi-Systemic Therapy (MST) - Judicial Branch Court Support Services Division

The MST program operated by the Court Support Services Division of the Judicial Branch, serves to address the behavioral health needs of high-risk youth to reduce their risky behaviors, such as substance abuse, and improve school, family, and social functioning. This is a family and community based program. The services identify family/client strengths, help the client/family define goals, and provide instruction on ways to prevent the recurrence of delinquent behavior and other family conflict, as well as establishing resources and skills to maintain ongoing progress. These services are considered “non assistance,” as they do not provide for basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing. In addition, the services are provided to “needy families,” which is described as having an income level less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the state median income for family size.

Clients are referred from judges and probation officers, but are not under a detention order. This is a less restrictive residential setting than the Alternative to Detention Program (ADP), for those to be detained for up to 45 days.

TANF Purpose # 1: Provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or the homes of relatives.

Funding: Segregated Federal Program. Federal TANF funds are used in this program to support activities for United States citizens only. Non-TANF funds are used for the activities of non-citizens.

D. 21. Gender Specific Female - Judicial Branch Court Support Services Division

The General Assembly appropriates funds annually to the Court Support Services Division of the Judicial Branch to fund the Gender Specific Female program. This is a gender-specific program for women age 16 and older who have been involved with the criminal justice system. The goal of the Gender Specific Female program is to help address the issues that have contributed to the destructive, risky behaviors of these women, through counseling, education and individualized rehabilitative services. It is these risky behaviors that can often lead to out-of-wedlock pregnancy (some of the participants already have a child/ren). The program utilizes a relational treatment approach and encourages the development of growth producing, trusting, healthy relationships in an environment that is positive, safe, and trusting and helps to foster self-esteem and motivation among the participants in the program with the intention that they will ultimately make better life choices. It serves as a step-down in services to Women & Children programs. There are no income guidelines for this program.

WORK REQUIREMENTS

Sec. 402(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(ii) - This Work Requirements part describes how the state intends to require a parent or caretaker relative receiving assistance under the program to engage in work (as defined by the state) once the state determines the parent or caretaker is ready to engage in work, or once the parent or caretaker has received assistance under the program for 24 months (whether or not consecutive), whichever is earlier, consistent with Section 407(e)(2).

Work Requirements

Upon entering the time-limited program all adult recipients must participate in work activities, unless specifically exempted by state regulation. A person is exempt if he or she is incapacitated; age 60 or older; responsible for the care of an incapacitated family member; a non-parent caretaker relative who does not receive assistance; caring for a child under the age of one who is not subject to the family cap; pregnant or postpartum if a physician has certified that she is unable to work; or unemployable. Minor parents are exempt if attending and satisfactorily completing high school or high school equivalency programs.

WORK ACTIVITIES

Sec. 402(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(iii) – This Work Activities part describes how the state intends to ensure that parents and caretakers receiving assistance under the program engage in work activities in accordance with section 407 of the Social Security Act.

Recipients are required to engage in work activities as prescribed by their employability plans. Failure to participate without good cause results in a penalty being imposed on the entire family.

During the twenty-one month time limit, the penalty for not participating becomes progressively more severe. For the first instance of failure to participate, the penalty is a 25% reduction in the family's TFA payment for three months. For the second instance of non-compliance, the penalty is a 35% reduction in the TFA payment for three months. For all subsequent instances of non-compliance during the twenty-one month time limit, the penalty is ineligibility for TFA payments for three months. Also, when the adult who fails to comply is the only recipient of TFA, the assistance unit of one is ineligible for benefits for three consecutive months for the first, second and third offense. The three months that the family does not receive TFA payments do not count in determining twenty-one months of time limited eligibility.

If the family is penalized more than one time during the twenty-one month time limit, they are given the opportunity to participate in an Individual Performance Contract (IPC). If the IPC is successfully completed an extension may be granted. If the IPC is unsuccessful no future extension is allowed unless the family experiences special circumstances such as domestic violence or it becomes exempt from work requirements.

If a family fails to participate without good cause during an extension, the penalty is ineligibility for the remainder of the extension period. No future extension is allowed unless the family experiences special circumstances such as domestic violence.

TEEN-PREGNANCY PREVENTION

Sec. 402(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(v) - This Teen-Pregnancy Prevention part describes how the state intends to establish goals and take action to prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies, with special emphasis on teenage pregnancies, and establish numerical goals for reducing the illegitimacy ratio of the state (as defined in Section 403(a)(2)(C)(iii) of the Social Security Act), for calendar years 2011 through 2014.

The Department of Social Services (DSS) operates a statewide teen pregnancy prevention initiative comprised of individual programs run by not-for profit organizations and municipalities in thirteen (13) Connecticut towns and cities. The communities served are: Bridgeport, East Hartford, Hartford, Killingly, Meriden, New Britain, New Haven, New London, Norwich, Torrington, Waterbury, West Haven, and Willimantic. The programs in these areas serve six-hundred ninety (690) participants.

The initiative was restructured and went out to bid in 2007 and 2008 with the purpose of procuring teen pregnancy prevention services from not-for-profit organizations and municipalities utilizing proven science-based program models. The implemented programs utilize either of two science-based models: 1) the comprehensive, long-term, holistic, youth development model, based on the Carrera program model; or 2) The Teen Outreach Program, a service learning model, where participants engage in, reflect on, and learn from community service projects. Both of these program models have been evaluated and have shown evidence that they are among the most effective approaches to preventing teen pregnancies. Currently, New Britain, Torrington, Waterbury and Willimantic have implemented Carrera programs. Bridgeport, East Hartford, Hartford, Killingly, Meriden, New Haven, New London, Norwich, and West Haven and have implemented service learning programs.

The DSS funded teen pregnancy prevention initiative funds primarily support the individual programs, but also cover independent research and evaluation with Philliber Research Associates (PRA), statistical analysis (UConn Family Planning Division), training with Michael Carrera who created the Carrera program and Wyman Associates who owns the Teen Outreach Service Learning program.

DSS worked with the Department of Public Health to include the collection of marital status information on birth certificates to allow more accurate data collection on out-of-wedlock pregnancies. DSS has set numerical goals for reducing the number out-of-wedlock pregnancies for teens between the ages of 15 and 19 to no more than 22 births per 1,000 for 2011, 22 births per 1,000 in 2012, 22 births per 1,000 in 2013 and 22 births per 1,000 in 2014.

STATUTORY RAPE

Sec. 402(a)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act

(vi) – This Statutory Rape part describes how the state intends to conduct a program, designed to reach state and local law enforcement officials, the education system, and relevant counseling services, that provides education and training on the problem of statutory rape so that teenage pregnancy prevention programs may be expanded in scope to include men.

The Governor has declared that statutory rape laws be enforced throughout the state and convened an interagency group to develop a protocol for referral of statutory rape cases. The Governor has appointed a special prosecutor to enforce the statutory rape laws in Hartford. Hartford is the city with the highest teen birth rate in the state. In addition, the Department of Social Services (DSS) has notified all of its employees that information pertaining to any possible case of statutory rape should be referred to the Department of Children and Families (DCF) for investigation of possible child abuse. DCF may further refer the case to the Chief State's Attorney's Office for prosecution. DSS also encourages the victim and their family to report the case to the Chief State's Attorney's Office.

DSS together with the Department of Public Health completed a media campaign with two focuses. The first was to educate women about their rights and the statutory rape laws. The second focus targeted young men to inform them that statutory rape is a crime in Connecticut and will be prosecuted. Brochures were developed and distributed to schools and local community agencies.

Teen-pregnancy prevention programs funded by DSS work intensively with young men as well as young women to address issues of health, education and other life issues.

OBJECTIVE CRITERIA

Sec. 402(a)(1)(B) of the Social Security Act

(iii) - This Objective Criteria part sets forth objective criteria for the delivery of the benefits and the determination of eligibility and for fair and equitable treatment, including an explanation of how the state will provide opportunities for recipients who have been adversely affected to be heard in a state administrative or appeal process.

Connecticut's Objective Criteria

The State of Connecticut has developed objective criteria for the delivery of benefits, the determination of eligibility, and for fair and equitable treatment. These criteria are described in official state policies and regulations. The policies and regulations have been legally adopted under applicable provisions of state law.

Connecticut's objective criteria for delivery of benefits and determination of eligibility for TFA include standards of promptness for the determination of eligibility, periodic reviews of eligibility, standards of verification, determination of good cause for not complying with employment services requirements, and treatment and limits on income and resources.

The standard of promptness is forty-five days from the date of application for inactive cases. If the family applies for an extension of benefits before the end of the twenty-one month time limit or extension, the standard of promptness is 30 days.

Periodic reviews of eligibility are every twelve months and in the twentieth month of the time limit.

Documents are the primary sources of verification. Affidavits are accepted when other sources of verification are not available. The preponderance of evidence is the department's standard of verification.

Good cause for non-compliance with and employment services activity is defined as circumstances beyond a person's control that reasonably prevent a person from participating in an activity.

Earned income of recipients is totally excluded up to the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). Once earnings reach the FPL, the family becomes ineligible for assistance. Unearned income must be less than the department's standard of need for a family to be eligible for TFA.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT
TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES (TANF)
STATE PLAN 2012-2014 ■ SECTION B - PART III

The resource limit is $3,000. Families are allowed to own a vehicle with an equity value less than $9,500 or a vehicle used to transport a handicapped family member.

Benefits are paid through electronic benefits transfer into an account that may be accessed by the eligible family or through direct deposit to the recipient's own bank account. The department may limit a person's control over an account through restricted payment or by providing payment directly to a third party when it has been determined that the person has mismanaged his or her finances.

Connecticut's Appeals Process

Connecticut provides timely and adequate notice prior to taking an adverse action and provides opportunities for the recipients who have been adversely affected to be heard in a state administered appeals process. There are set time limits for requesting and holding hearings and issuing decisions. Hearings are presented before impartial hearing officers. Clients are allowed to present a case, bring witnesses, ask questions and cross-examine. If the client is unhappy with the decision, he or she may request reconsideration or appeal to the courts.

STATE PLAN 2012-2014 ■ SECTION B - PART IV

WORK OPTION

Sec. 402(a)(1)(B) of the Social Security Act

(iv) - Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Section, unless the chief executive officer of the state opts out of this provision by notifying the Secretary, a state shall, consistent with the exception provided in section 407(e)(2), require a parent or caretaker receiving assistance under the program who, after receiving such assistance for 2 months is not exempt from work requirements and is not engaged in work, as determined under section 407(c), to participate in community service employment, with minimum hours per week and tasks to be determined by the state.

On September 25, 1996, the Governor sent a letter to the Secretary of Health and Human Services to opt out of this provision. While the state may use community service as a work activity, requiring every parent or caretaker do it after two months of assistance is not consistent with the design of the Jobs First program.
