

May 4, 2009

Updated Online Ethics Training Now Available!

The interactive online training has been revised and updated to provide more information and to reflect changes in the law. The new version is now up and ready for use on the OSE's Web site.

In-person Training Available

The OSE continues to send staff members to state agencies to conduct in-person training on the Code of Ethics. This training is provided free of charge. Please use the Training Request Form to make arrangements.

SFI Thank You

Thank you again to all who helped compile and update agency designee lists for the Calendar Year 2008 SFI filings. We understand that at times the process was onerous, and we sincerely appreciate your patience and cooperation with the effort to populate the new online system. Such efforts have ensured that the process will be smooth and easy in the coming years. For example, liaisons will have online access to their agency lists and will be able to update information throughout the year. More details on this next phase will be forthcoming in this forum.

Legal Assistance

As we enter into the busiest time of the legislative session, please remember that the OSE is here to help. Please don't hesitate to call the Legal Division with questions regarding the ethics codes, or request a training for your agency personnel.

Administrative Lobbying Reminder

Lobbying does not take place solely in the halls of the Capitol. If lobbyists are in your agency and attempting to influence administrative action, they should be wearing identifying badges. Feel free to remind them of this obligation.