FATHERHOOD INITIATIVE
OF CONNECTICUT

Dear Colleagues:

As we enter our sixteenth year promoting the John S. Martinez Fatherhood Initiative of Connecticut across the state, I am extremely encouraged by the many lives we have touched and the accomplishments we have made together.

We continue to work to support and promote the positive interaction of fathers with their children, understanding that fathers are critical forces in their children's lives, and that they must be acknowledged and assisted with the important role they play -- fathers are a source of love, nurturance and guidance, as well as financial and emotional support.

Fathers in Connecticut should know that they have choices and resources to help them to be part of their children's lives. The Department partners with a wide range of programs and services to assist communities and agencies in identifying and addressing the needs of fathers and families by focusing our efforts on four proven systems change strategies:

- capacity-building in existing programs;
- infusing father-friendly principles and practices into existing systems;
- media advocacy to promote responsible fatherhood; and
- recommending social policy change to strengthen families

I would like to thank the many staff, providers, volunteers, and others who tirelessly work to change state systems and to promote the importance of the positive relationships of fathers with their children. We rely heavily on these unsung heroes to make Connecticut a place where fathers and families are fully supported.

We are pleased to provide you with the 2015 edition of the Fatherhood Initiative of Connecticut Family Services Directory. This important resource lists many fatherhood providers, support groups, web-based sites and other resources at the state and local levels that support fatherhood-related issues.

As always, I would like to thank you for your continuing interest in and support of the Fatherhood Initiative.

Best regards,

Anthony Judkins
Program Manager

Goal

The goal of Connecticut's Fatherhood Initiative (Initiative) is to promote the positive involvement and interaction of fathers with their children. The Initiative is a broad-based, statewide program led by the Department of Social Services that is focused on changing systems to improve fathers' ability to be fully and positively involved in the lives of their children.

Objectives

- Promote public education concerning the financial and emotional responsibilities of fatherhood;
- Assist men in preparation for the legal, financial and emotional responsibilities of fatherhood;
- Promote the establishment of paternity at childbirth;
- Encourage fathers, regardless of marital status, to foster their emotional connection to and financial support of their children;
- Establish support mechanisms for fathers in their relationship with their children, regardless of their marital and financial status; and
- Integrate state and local services available for families.

Fatherhood Advisory Council Membership

Chaired by the Commissioner of the Department of Social Services, Council membership includes various divisions of DSS, the Department of Children & Families, Department of Correction, Department of Labor, Department of Mental Health & Addiction Services, Department of Public Health, and the State Department of Education; Juridical Branch Court Support Services, Support Enforcement Services and Family Support Magistrate Divisions; community-based agencies/programs serving fathers and families; faith-based partners; experts in child development; women's and men's advocates; domestic violence experts; the Children's Trust Fund; Greater Hartford Legal Aid; community technical colleges; and Commission on Children.

Overview of Services/Programs

The central focus of the Department of Children and Families (DCF) is to work together with families and communities to improve child safety, ensure that more children have permanent families and advance the overall well-being of children. DCF implements the Connecticut Comprehensive Outcomes Reviews (CCOR) includes components specific to examining the agency's efforts and effectiveness to serve Connecticut birth fathers giving DCF the unique ability to collect and analyze data for the purposes of informing practice and systemic enhancements. In 2008, DCF developed and implemented an Engaging Fathers in-service training curriculum available to all levels of staff. Further, DCF has implemented the Fatherhood Matters Initiative. The goal of the initiative is to promote father effective practices and includes strategies for raising awareness, developing and maintaining a birth father specific service array, and creating forums for dialogue to incorporate various stakeholder perspectives. This effort includes a focus on incarcerated fathers with children in care as well as services designed to enhance the parenting and self-sufficiency skills of adolescent fathers in the Juvenile Justice and Child Welfare systems. As the fatherhood field evolves with new and promising family centered programs, services and initiatives on the horizon, DCF will continue to integrate best practices, and form partnerships with key stakeholders including birth parents, community providers, and organizations in an effort to promote the safety, permanency, and well-being for the children and families of Connecticut.

Overview of Services/Program

The Connecticut Department of Correction is committed to supporting the successful reintegration of offenders into their home communities as a means of reducing recidivism and enhancing public safety. While still incarcerated, toward the end of their sentence, offenders are offered extensive assistance with such issues as employment, housing, identification and family matters. The agency also endeavors to provide, for appropriate offenders, a period of supervision in the community prior to the end of sentence that further bridges their transition back into law abiding society.

Overview of Services/Program

The Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services (DMHAS) promotes and administers comprehensive, recovery-oriented services in the areas of mental health treatment and substance abuse prevention and treatment throughout Connecticut. While the Department's prevention services serve all Connecticut citizens, its mandate is to serve adults (over 18 years of age) with psychiatric or substance use disorders, or both, who lack the financial means to obtain such services on their own. DMHAS also provides collaborative programs for individuals with special needs, such as persons with HIV/AIDS infection, people in the criminal justice system, those with problem gambling disorders, substance abusing pregnant women, persons with traumatic brain injury or hearing impairment, those with co-occurring substance abuse and mental illness, and special populations transitioning out of the Department of Children and Families. DMHAS operates on the belief that most people with mental illnesses and/or substance use disorders can and should be treated in community settings, and that inpatient treatment should be used only when absolutely necessary to meet the best interests of the patient. Effective care requires that services such as residential, supportive, rehabilitative and crisis intervention programs are available within their local communities.

Overview of Services/Programs

The Division of Family Support Services provides a comprehensive approach to preventing child abuse and neglect to ensure the health, well-being and positive growth and development of all young children in Connecticut. The division identifies and supports the most effective means of assisting and strengthening families, communities, and human services workforce in order to prevent child abuse and neglect. To do this, staff provide training and contract for direct services to help: parents become effective caregivers and develop nurturing relationships with their children (i.e. through home visiting and creating single points of access to services in communities); communities and human service staff become more responsive to the needs of children and support their positive growth and development (i.e. truancy prevention, child development system building, provider trainings in maternal and child health, developmental screening); families find resources in time of need.

Overview of Services/Programs

The Department of Social Services (DSS) provides a broad range of services to the elderly, persons with disabilities, families, and individuals who need assistance in maintaining or achieving their full potential for self-direction, self-reliance and independent living. It administers over 90 legislatively authorized programs and one-third of the state budget. DSS administers most of its programs through offices located throughout the state. Within the department, the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services provides vocational rehabilitation services for eligible individuals with physical and mental disabilities at 23 offices throughout the state. For the other programs, services are available through 11 offices located in the three regions, with central office support located in Hartford. In addition, many services funded by the agency are available through community-based agencies. Many of the services provided by the Department are available via mail or phone call. In accordance with Public Act No. 99-193, the Department of Social Services serves as lead agency for the implementation of the John S. Martinez Fatherhood Initiative of Connecticut. DSS works with community-based partners throughout Connecticut and sponsors/participates in events that support father involvement.

Overview of Services/Programs

The Court Support Services Division (CSSD) was established in February 1999, to respond to the changing needs of judges, attorneys, litigants, defendants, and communities, while providing on-going public safety. Judges now have all available pre-trial services, family services, offender sentencing and supervision options for adults and juveniles, as well as juvenile detention services, coordinated through the single CSSD division and managed from a central office. The CSSD established five regional service areas that closely resemble those of the Executive Branch for more efficient integration of its treatment planning and service delivery efforts with the state's human service agencies. CSSD incorporates Family Civil Services that assist the court and clients in the resolution of family and interpersonal conflicts with negotiation, mediation, and evaluation and education services in each Judicial District. Family Criminal Court services provided by CSSD's Family Services Unit include comprehensive assessment and interventions that address domestic violence cases and victim/complainants in each geographical area court site. In recognition of the distinct needs of adults and juveniles, two separate but parallel, service delivery systems were developed. CSSD Juvenile Probation provides a full continuum of monitoring, supervision and referral services for Delinquency, Judicial and Non Judicial Cases, and Families with Service Needs (FWSN) juveniles. Addresses and phone numbers for local offices can be located on the website. CSSD administers Juvenile Detention services in state run Centers that it operates in Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport. The CSSD also administers contracts for three privately run all girls' detention centers located in Hartford, Hamden and Norwalk.

Overview of Services/Program

The Young Parents Program offers individual, family and group counseling for pregnant and parenting teens; outreach through home visits and support groups; and family-life education workshops. The Early Care and Education programs offer full-time care for young children at four accredited facilities in Greenwich. The Nurturing Families Network provides educational and family support to new parents living in lower Fairfield County. Services are free and available to all first-time parents giving birth at Stamford and Greenwich hospitals. Reaching Independence Through Employment (RITE) helps low-income individuals and families attain a greater sense of self-sufficiency through counseling, goal planning, job-skills training, life skills and family support. Computer classes and job skills trainings are also available. RITE is open to residents living in Stamford and Greenwich. The Parenting Education Program (PEP) helps divorcing parents foster positive parenting following a divorce. Through expert counseling, parents learn how they can help their children adjust to parent separation, provide cooperative parenting, conflict resolution and dispute management, visitation guidelines and stress reducing techniques. Call for information and to register. Also offer parenting workshops, family counseling and support groups in Greenwich, Stamford and Darien.

Saint Joseph Parenting Center (SJPC) is a parent education and resource center dealing with children ranging in age from birth to age 12. We offer 28 different parenting classes in both English and Spanish for both moms and dads. This general parenting program has an open enrollment policy. SJPC also offers a DAD (Dads Are the Difference) Program. The purpose of the DAD program is to increase positive involvement and interaction between fathers and father figures with their children or children in their care. We work with fathers to help them increase their ability to meet their parental responsibilities of providing social, emotional, medical, educational, and financial assistance to their children. Our DAD program uses the 12 week 24/7 Dad AM series developed by the National Fatherhood Initiative. In conjunction with the parenting classes, SJPC's staff offers our families case management to assist them to connect to the appropriate community resources necessary to provide for their family's specific needs. We work with parents of all ages from teens to grandparents. Programs are offered year round. All services are free.

Brief Overview of Services/Program

Generations Family Health Center offers two Home Visiting Programs and several groups for fathers. Home Visiting is a long-term, intensive individualized program for expectant fathers and fathers parenting. Target participants are fathers of infants up to three months of age and expectant fathers. The second program is a 24/7 Dads Group that meets weekly and is open to all fathers. Both the Home Visiting Programs and the 24/7 Dads Groups provide parenting education and support and focus on relationship building, attachment, age-appropriate expectations and co-parenting while helping fathers achieve their employment and educational goals. The programs also offer case management services to promote positive interaction between fathers, mothers and children. Generations also offer a number of curriculum-based parenting and related groups to fathers and couples. In addition, Generations offers monthly play groups. These playgroups provide both parents with an opportunity to meet other parents while doing a fun and free activity. All programs and groups are free and open to the public.
