Be a part of the Connecticut criminal justice system's movement to improve community safety and reduce crime by implementing an integrated, collaborative, and cost-effective approach to managing an offender's transition from incarceration to the community.

Our day-long conference will consist of three workshop sessions and two plenary panels designed to promote dialogue between criminal justice partners regarding current and future interagency partnership and collaborations. Come ready to participate in a dynamic environment where state agencies will exchange ideas and brainstorm improvements to state service delivery.
