  - Deputy Commissioner Fernando Muniz gave a brief history and overview of the project and the criticality of the need to upgrade the system. Some of the many benefits will be to eliminate the challenges of supporting outdated legacy systems, gained efficiencies in performing the DCF business goals and better services to the public and community providers. A review of the implementation team with their roles and responsibilities was also provided.
  - Mark Raymond explained that the Federal Government has been encouraging States to buy, build and share technology solutions in modular approaches. This method of procurement is new to many states and the Department of Administrative Services is working with 18F which is an office inside GSA that is assisting federal agencies with similar approaches to systems delivery.

- Valter Borges provided a time line on next steps for the project since the business and IT requirements have been primarily completed. Highlighted next steps include:
  - July - RFP release for proposals
  - Late September - Proposals review
  - October - Top competitors invited for demonstration
  - October - Full IT Bonding Request
  - November - Vendor selection and contract negotiation
  - Early 2017 - System Integrator begins work with DCF

- Rita Pelaggi explained how DCF developed business process flows, both as-is and to-be, in order to establish their requirements. Reports and forms were gathered that led to a significant consolidation and will promote efficiencies. There will be 11 business functional modules that will be used to incrementally implement the new system. Rita also explained the need for a DCF Portal for the Public, Provider and Community that will provide efficiencies for doing business with DCF.

- Valter Borges highlighted to 18 different technical areas that will be used to support the solution.

- Overall, the Committee thought the initial funding to perform the requirements phase of a project this large to be extremely beneficial. They suggested that DCF provide a good understanding of the ongoing support costs for the system and show how that may be offset with cost savings and efficiencies.

- The committee also welcomed the opportunity for future status reports for larger projects and for those projects that were funded for the requirements phase.
